Week of Sacrifice and Annual Offering

Sabbath, November 18, has been set aside by the General Conference Committee as the Week of Sacrifice and Annual Offering Sabbath. The annual Week of Prayer is always welcomed by the people of God. It is a time when we should in a very special way search our own hearts to see where we stand in our relation to God and to our fellow men. During this Week of Prayer we should seek the Lord most earnestly for an outpouring of the latter rain, that the work of God might be finished in all parts of the world field. The times in which we live, the uncertainty of life itself, and the deplorable conditions all about us, demand that we as the remnant people seek the Lord as we have never done before.

We can make this the best Week of Prayer in our own experience if we choose to do so. As we read the messages prepared by the leaders may we receive that blessing of which we stand so much in need, and may they help us to sense the need of sacrificing more that the gospel might be proclaimed with power. All about us there are thousands who do not know this message. They must be reached. Through our sacrificial giving we can help in the proclamation of the gospel. The demands were never greater and the opportunities never more promising for real advance work.

Prayer and sacrifice always go together. The more we pray, the more we are willing to give. A praying church is always a giving church. We greatly appreciate the loyalty of all of our believers in supporting the cause of God. This work began in sacrifice and we are told that it will end in sacrifice. Sacrifice is based on wholehearted consecration. When we are willing to sacrifice self, thus yielding all to God, then no sacrifice of our means will be too great.

May this be a good Week of Prayer in the lives of all our people. And as the Annual Offering is taken, shall we not determine to make a real sacrifice that the work of the Lord may soon be finished?

Elder T. E. Lucas Visits the Northwest

Beginning at Twin Falls, Idaho, on the night of September 28, and ending at Toppenish, Washington, on October 21, Elder T. E. Lucas, associate secretary of the Missionary Volunteer Department of the General Conference, made a much appreciated visit to the North Pacific Union. During this time he held twenty-three meetings at churches, academies, and large youth rallies, besides giving valuable assistance at the M. V. Secretaries' Council held in Seattle by the Pacific and North Pacific Unions.

"Share Your Faith" was the keynote of each meeting and rally. This was especially stressed in the large weekend gatherings as boys, girls, and young people told of their adventures in soul winning.

A very profitable council was held by the Missionary Volunteer secretaries of the Pacific and North Pacific Unions at Seattle. The presidents of the conferences in the North Pacific Union, all of whom were present part of the time, contributed much to the success of the meeting by their presence and by the messages they brought to the council. Elder C. A. Scriven, president of the North Pacific Union, and Elder C. J. Nagele, secretary-treasurer, were present for a portion of the time, as were most of the men on the union staff. We greatly appreciated the help each gave.

Elder J. R. Nelson and his Missionary Volunteer secretaries of the Pacific Union were a source of inspiration to the M. V. secretaries of our union.

After the morning service at Yakima, October 21, Elder Lucas was stricken with a severe pain in his back. In spite of his suffering, and with the assistance of Dr. Everett Coleman of Yakima, he spoke to the large group of young people gathered at Toppenish that afternoon. Returning to Yakima, he was placed in the hospital there. Later in the week he was flown to Spokane, and from there to his home in Takoma Park, D. C., where the services of a specialist awaited him.

On behalf of the Missionary Volunteers of the North Pacific Union, we thank Elder Lucas for his most helpful and inspiring visit, and we join them in praying for his speedy recovery.

G. W. CHAMBERS.

Your Attention, Please

The GLEANER to be dated November 27 will be made up Wednesday afternoon, November 22, inasmuch as our usual make-up day falls on Thanksgiving Day when the College Press will be closed. Anyone having items to be published that week, please keep this announcement in mind and mail your contributions early to your local conference office so they can supply the GLEANER office with the material by Wednesday morning, November 22.

THE EDITOR.

You and the Review

The recent General Conference session strikingly revealed the value of our church paper, the Review and Herald. Regular subscribers were thrilled to receive the wonderful reports from the world field and the business proceedings of the session. These invaluable Bulletins can be bound and kept for future perusal.

This wonderful church paper that the Lord has given us as a people should be in every English-speaking Seventh-day Adventist home. How can we afford to get along without it? To have the Review and Herald as a regular visitor keeps us in close touch with the progress of the work throughout the world field. The closer we keep in touch with the work, the more we become interested in its ultimate triumph.

The messages in the Review and Herald and the counsel that it contains are mighty factors in the building of a character that will stand in the crisis hour that is soon to be faced.

We cannot ignore the fact that stirring times are ahead of us, and as we face the last hours we must move forward unitedly in the accomplishment of our God-given task. The Review and Herald not only acquaints us with the progress of the work, but keeps us in touch with developments in the world that point clearly and convincingly to the coming of the Lord.

No one can question the spiritual influence of the Review upon those who read it. Regular readers of our church paper do not join the apostates or those who find fault with the Advent Movement. Workers and laity alike should read faithfully each week the Review as it comes to them.

The General Conference Committee by action voted that November 4 to 25 be set aside for the promotion of the Review. Really, this should not be necessary, because as members of the church we should see the need of having this church paper come to our homes each week without being urged to subscribe for it.

Church Press Secretary

When you have the thrill of seeing an unexpected "break" in your newspaper for Seventh-day Adventists, you may be pretty sure that the story didn't just happen. Behind every piece of good publicity for an individual or an organization there is an effort or an influence for which someone is responsible.

For example, if, on Monday morning you find a write-up by the church editor of a visit on Saturday to the Adventist church services, you can know that through someone's influence he planned for this. Or, there may come a pictorial story of your church school, setting forth the principles of education held by the church. It may do more good than scores of sermons in helping the public better understand us. But the writer of that story probably didn't come upon your school, with its unique news features, without some guidance.

Adventists in many communities swelled with satisfaction a few weeks ago to see in their newspapers a general report of the world work of Adventists that went out from the General Conference session. How did our editor get this story, and why was he sufficiently interested to report this meeting so many miles away? was a natural question.

There is one big reason why Seventh-day Adventists are getting the favorable publicity they are today. We, of course, recognize the power and guidance of the Spirit of God. But, with this is the fact that hundreds of faithful and capable church press secretaries are busy week in and week out preparing local church news, and giving it in proper form to their local editors.

This is the only contact that many newspapers have with the Seventh-day Adventist church. But this copy, covering the various church activities and frequently featuring world projects, builds with editors and newsmen an interest and confidence in the Adventist church program. Then when something of unusual local interest occurs, the newspaper wants it. Or, if it is a report of a meeting even at a distance, the informed editor sees its news value and publishes it. News over the Associated Press, the United Press, and other wire services, nearly always appears where the Adventist church has good press relations.

The church press secretary is the key worker in this whole vital program. The further we go the more we are convinced of this. There has been a tremendous upsurge of Adventist church publicity during 1950, and this is undoubtedly the result of having a larger number of capable and active church press secretaries.

We earnestly appeal to church boards and nominating committees, as you plan your work for the coming year, to make sure you have a good church press secretary. The election of a church press secretary is in harmony with General Conference action. If your press secretary is doing good work, let us suggest you re-elect him. If for good reasons there will be a change, then work to get someone who will take an active interest in this work.

If, for any reason, you haven't had a church press secretary, we appeal to you to provide for one for the coming year. By not filling this important office, you may be depriving hundreds and thousands of families of even hearing of the Seventh-day Adventist church. And remember, the person you choose for this office will represent your entire church in the opinion of the editor, and through him, mold the opinion of the entire community.

"We must take every justifiable means of bringing the light before the people," we are told. (T. Vol. 6, pp. 36, 37) "Let the press be utilized, and let every advertising agency be employed that will call attention to the work."

What Readest Thou?

This is a reading age. Everybody reads, and why not? The public press opens up the main avenue of information. It is no longer a question of how much we read or who does the reading, but rather what do we read?

The country is being flooded with books, magazines and other literature. Much of this is fair and profitable, but some is worthless and even harmful. Many are unable to choose and become bewildered and confused.

No, it is not wrong to read the newspapers. It is here the careful observer of modern developments and fulfilling prophecy feels the pulse of current trends. However, the average Seventh-day Adventist can keep well informed on major developments by reading the good old Review. Here you have not only facts but an analysis of the things that affect our lives and our future. From the pens of our best writers and observers you have the result of much reading, serious study and earnest prayer.

For $3.75 you may have this religious digest come to your door every week for a whole year. When it comes you can settle down to the reading of up-to-date articles covering every phase of life. Those who have tried it know this is the truth. Those that have not tried it had better do so and be convinced, and once a reader of the Review always a reader. Wisdom's ways indicate that it is not enough to know, but that we know how to use our knowledge. Subscribe now while you are in the mood.

Evangelism at Ridgefield

Sunday night, October 22, marked the beginning of the fifth week of the series of meetings in Ridgefield, Washington, being conducted by E. E. Stratton and Kenneth McVay, in the Seventh-day Adventist church.

The meetings were started in a large tent with a seating capacity of 150, located on a beautiful lot in the center of town, but because of uncertain weather conditions, the meetings were moved into the church a few blocks from the main part of town.

After a rousing song service conducted by Brother McVay, with Mrs. McVay at the piano, Brother Stratton presented "God's Cartoon of the Nations" to a large audience. We are greatly favored with musical talent by the students and teachers of Columbia Academy every Sunday evening.

A good interest has been built up and several are enrolled in the free Bible course. We solicit your prayers that many souls might be won for Christ and that the Gospel might bring men to repentance so that the work will go forward in this area.

A Story of Jesus

Yes, the book, Shiloh, the Man of Nazareth, is the greatest of all Bible stories. Mrs. L. D. Avery-Stuttle was blessed in writing this story of the Saviour's life, with the hope that the reader may better understand the love of God. She says, "It has seemed to me for a long time, that a story was needed which would portray the wonderful Christ pity and the infinite Christ love,—or some word-picture which would give to that love a new setting."

In the 55 chapters you will find these thoughts expressed. We start with the first chapter, Sylvanus, the Shepherd, then follow other chapters such as The Plotting of Herod, A Wolf in Sheep's Clothing, The Prophet of the Wilderness, The Trail of the Serpent, A Sad Home-coming, Story of Crispus, A Fiendish Plot, What is Your Price? Hill of Death, and The Triumphant

One. It has been combined with the book, Stories Jesus Told, and both will be sold for $3.50 postpaid, the regular price of the set being $4.25. This offer holds until November 30. These are excellent books for holiday gifts. Order of your Book and Bible House.

Stan Midgley Returns to Portland

Those attending last year's program given by Stan Midgley will, no doubt, remember the superb photography and the matchless humor which, blended together, proved to be one of the most outstanding picture programs ever presented in the Portland area. Again this year, the Portland Social Activities Association is especially fortunate in securing his services.

The program has been scheduled for November 11, at the Benson High School Auditorium in Portland. The time for starting has been set for 7:45 p.m., and a free-will offering will be taken at the door. Everyone is cordially invited. The subject, "Riding High in the San Juan Wonderland."

Laurelwood Academy

On September 10 Laurelwood Academy opened its doors to students for the school year 1950-51. The school family has enlarged this year and parents and students from all over the West have seen the need for Christian education as never before.

To date our academy enrollment is 426, the biggest in our history. Of these, 138 are in Friendality Hall, the girls' new dormitory; 60 in Adams Hall, the girls' old dormitory; 69 in the boys' dormitory, 41 in the boys' annex, and 38 in "Brookside Hall," as the recently converted grade school has been called. The remainder are village students.

Two or three weeks before school commenced it became apparent that we were in for an extra enrollment, as applications began to come in every mail. Soon the administration realized that the dormitory facilities as then set up would be inadequate, and other arrangements were sought.

For the girls it was decided to reopen the third floor of Adams Hall. For the boys, it was not so easy. The boys' dormitory was outgrown long ago and for some years now forty boys have been housed in the Annex, under the supervision of Mr. Wisbey. With the dormitory full and the Annex full, and more boys wanting rooms, a very real problem developed. It was felt that since one of our strong points as a denomination is Christian education we should turn none away if it were physically possible to accommodate them.

The solution came through the village folks and the conference deciding to erect a new grade school building and turn the old building over to the Academy for temporary boys' rooms. This project was begun only a week before the opening date for school, but as boys arrived who had no previous arrangements for rooms and were told that we had done our best, they accepted the quarters so hastily provided quite graciously.

Installation of radiators and plumbing is still under way. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Holmes have arrived and are getting settled in the apartment that is being arranged for the supervisor of this group of boys. In addition to assisting the Dean of boys in this capacity, Mr. Holmes will assist the teaching staff in the English department.

Several new members have joined the Laurelwood faculty. Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCoy and Mrs. Dallas Kime have joined the music department, making six full-time teachers and one part-time teacher in music.

Mr. Cecil Ashley, a graduate of the Walla Walla College School of Engineering, has taken over our powerhouse and engineering problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fullerton have come to help us from Rogue River. Mr. Fullerton will teach History and English classes, and his wife will assist Mr. Johnson in the business office.

Elder H. A. Peckham has come from Auburn Academy with many years of experience as pastor-teacher. In addition to his training, it fell his duty to supervise the rapid construction of the new grade school. It is to his credit and that of the brethren of the community that the building is nearing completion.

Mrs. Beckner, from the Portland Sanitarium and Hospital, is our new school nurse.

Installation of a new sealer and vats in the cannery has facilitated the preservation of many hundreds of gallons of fruits and vegetables. In fact, the cannery is still in operation, in an effort to take care of the late crop of peaches, pears and apples.

We of the Laurelwood faculty solicit the prayers of the people that our school may be a haven of refuge for our youth and may truly be a School of the Prophets.

Oregon News

Elder H. R. Gay and Brother A. M. Running, of the Book and Bible House, are spending the week ends in some of the districts in the conference. On October 28 they were in the Bend district, and on November 4 in the Medford district. They report excellent book sales and encouraging meetings.

The church at Waldport is laying plans for the erection of a house of worship at that place. They are purchasing a well-located lot and hope to have a representative place for church services. At the present time they are meeting in a very inadequate community hall.

Elder A. J. Reisig reports an excellent meeting with the Laurelwood Academy church last Sabbath.

Elder D. N. Reiner spent Sabbath with the Hood River church.

Elder W. I. Unterseher is conducting the Week of Prayer at Laurelwood Academy.

Elder A. J. Gordon is spending some time in the Bend district, holding meetings with the church at Bend.

During the last few weeks Elder E. F. Coy has been visiting the churches in the conference in the interest of the colporteur work. During part of the time he has been accompanied by Elder C. E. Wimer, and in other places we are glad that Elder M. V. Tucker, of the union conference, was able to be with him.

Conference-wide Evangelism

The Bible says "multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of decision."

Everywhere souls are hanging in the balance. Throughout Montana there are many people now hearing the message. Your ministers are busy holding efforts and preaching the glorious truth that we all love so dearly.

As you know, Elder L. L. Grand Pre' is on the air in Missoula each week and has started his winter program of public meetings. Elder R. L. Badgley and Evert Kuester are in an effort in Choteau. Billings enjoys a radio broadcast regularly by Elder E. G. Fresk and he and Brother Paul Johnson have an evangelistic program in full swing in Hardin. As a result of the evangelistic program, souls are being brought face to face with God's truth. Many of these will have a tremendous struggle to change the habits and ways of a lifetime. We know that the knowledge of the truth alone will not cause them to walk in the light. "It is not by might nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord." Only God by His Holy Spirit can give the increase. Repentance, after all, is a gift from God.

Elder A. R. Lodahl is planning an effort for Kalispell.

Elder K. Eldon Baker has rented the American Legion hall in Helena and is started in a city-wide evangelistic program.

And do not forget that throughout the conference large numbers of people are studying the 20th Century lessons. The 20th Century Correspondence School constitutes our largest evangelistic endeavor.

"As activity increases and men become successful in doing any work for God, there is danger of trusting to human plans and methods. There is a tendency to pray less, and have less faith. Like the disciples, we are in danger of losing sight of our dependence on God, and seeking to make a saviour of our activity. We need to look constantly to Jesus, realizing that it is His power which does the work. While we are to labor earnestly for the salvation of the lost, we must also take time for meditation, for prayer, and for the study of the Word of God. Only the work accomplished with much prayer, and sanctified by the merit of Christ, will in the end prove to have been efficient for good."—Desire of Ages, p. 362.

Our ministers and conference workers are spending much time in prayer for the interested. It is always an encouragement to the men on the "firing line," to know that the membership each day remembers the evangelistic efforts before the throne of grace in earnest prayer. Let every believer in Montana pray most earnestly that God may give a good harvest of souls.

Boise Church School

Our school opened this year with a good enrollment and with as fine a group of children as you could find anywhere. Really, it seems that the majority are not only interested in making good grades, but they are interested in the spiritual side of their education as well. The Boise church has reason to be proud of its children who are in church school.

Miss Chase has a lively group in grades one to four. She has twenty-three in her room and it doesn't take a long visit there to tell that they all love school.

Mrs. Ladd has the crowded room this year with grades five to eight. That large room has every seat occupied. They have their play period with the academic students and they really love to play soft-ball. We have as large a tenth grade class this year as we have ever had.

Recently the school has added more than two hundred dollars worth of playground equipment, which helps wonderfully in making school enjoyable. The new record player presented by the Home and School Association this summer is a fine addition to the school. Last year the children raised nearly a hundred dollars for the assembly room. We have fluorescent lights in it now and a new ceiling is to be put in soon. Yes, the Lord has blessed the Boise church school and we thank Him for it.

Elder Wayne Scriven spent Sabbath, October 28, with the folk at Rupert. He reports an enthusiastic and active group there. The subject of his Sabbath sermon was "The Need For Temperance Education."

Elder Hempel is holding a week's revival meetings in the Mountain Home church. A good group are attending these meetings including a number of non-Adventists.

Last week the Duncans and Juhls from Caldwell were visitors in the office. With them was Mrs. Hedley, the Bible worker who is working with the effort there. This evangelistic group has a good interest in the city of Caldwell, and with the Lord's blessing expect to reap a large harvest of souls there for the Master.

Friday evening, October 27, Elder Scriven presented for the Boise M. V. Society the new Sabbath school film

Week of Sacrifice Offering

Dear Fellow Believer:

We are happy to report to you that the Lord is greatly blessing His people and His work in the Upper Columbia Conference. Many souls have been won for God by them during recent months. We rejoice because of this, and we thank you and praise God because of your faithfulness in the payment of tithes and offerings.

The receipts in tithe in the conference office for the first three quarters of the year indicate a nice gain of $24,742.79 over the corresponding period for last year, which is a gain of 4.65 per cent. But while this is true, our foreign mission offerings have decreased, so that there has been a per capita loss of $1.25 for the period of nine months.

The Week of Prayer is just upon us. It will be held in all of our churches November 11 to 18, and Sabbath, November 18, is the day set apart by the General Conference for the annual Week of Sacrifice offering. Many of the workers of the conference will give that week an amount equivalent to one week's salary after the tithe has been deducted. Because of the urgent needs in many parts of the world, it is felt that many of the church officers and other members of the churches would be pleased to join with the workers in such sacrificial giving.

We believe that God will add a special blessing to everyone who will help to meet the urgent needs of the work at this time, and we thank you heartily for your earnest support and hearty cooperation. We pray God most earnestly to bless you in your soul-winning endeavor and your sacrificial giving. Again, we thank you.

C. LESTER BOND.

Upper Columbia Academy

Dr. L. E. C. Joers, a Seventh-day Adventist physician practicing in Tacoma, just completed a very profitable week of prayer. Both the students and teachers received a great spiritual refreshing as the Spirit of God used him to speak to us. How happy the believers and loyal patrons can be that the Lord is still working so mightily in behalf of the youth, the heritage of the church.

Over one-sixth of the school year is past. Those who have the distinction of having an average grade of B or better for the first period are as follows: Norman Bartholomew, Eddie experience to hear Washington young people and juniors tell of their experiences in winning souls to Christ. The Missionary Volunteers of Washington are proving themselves a mighty potential for helping finish the work of God quickly.

The musical talent which God has entrusted to Missionary Volunteers contributed outstandingly to the spiritual success of the rally. For the enjoyment of Washington youth, a Saturday night secular program had been planned. Some of the best talent in the conference participated. To climax the program, Washington Missionary Volunteers were honored by having as their guest, Sunny Lui, from the Upper Columbia Conference. His contribution to the M. V. rally was superb.

Sabbath afternoon, the young people dedicated themselves, by the help of God, that each one will "Win one by campmeeting time of '51." Already, there are encouraging reports coming in from the field as to the plans for a greater "Share Your Faith" crusade in the Washington Conference. Do pray that this spirit shall claim the heart of every youth who lives in this momentous hour.

CREE SANDEFUR.

"Stories Jesus Told"

About two thousand years ago on the shore of beautiful Galilee, The Galilean said, "The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened."

The writer of the book, Stories Jesus

Told, has drawn on the Master's method of driving the lessons home by linking the message with an incident in daily life.

Yes, I know a little girl who after hearing these stories read, says, "Daddy, I love Jesus. I want to go to heaven."

There is still the same power in those stories Jesus told to "leaven" the lives of boys and girls today. When your girl or boy says, "Daddy, Mother, tell me a story," can you afford to be without the book, Stories Jesus Told? The "leaven" if given a chance, will work the same today as it did two thousand years ago by Galilee. Be sure to get yours during the November specials on Stories Jesus Told, and Shiloh, The Man of Nazareth.

Book and Bible House News

We are happy to report record sales by Brother Harold Kauffman of almost $600 in orders last week.

The first district book display held this fall in Bremerton on October 28 was a success. Sales were more than double last year's. This is a worthy goal for all future district book displays.

We received a letter today from Brother and Sister M. S. Graham, placing an order for Bible Pageant sets and Modern Medical Counselor totaling nearly $1,500.

The Lord is wonderfully blessing the faithful efforts of those who are spreading the printing page. Scores of people should be calling from door to door where there is but one today. Time is much shorter than you think.

Washington News

Recent baptisms include three by Elder Ziegler on October 21, five by Elder Patterson on September 30, and five by Elder Ruddle on September 30. We are always happy to receive reports like this from our ministers.

Elder Ruddle writes that the revival meetings are onward in his district. The Spirit of the Lord is definitely working, and victories for the right are being won every day. Revival meetings have been conducted in three of the five churches in his district, and meetings in the fourth are beginning.

Brother Percy Clifton is having wonderful experiences in the colporteur work in Issaquah. Already his evenings are full with call-backs and Bible studies with interested families. Best of all, he has several of the Issaquah church members taking hold of the Bible studies he has developed but does not have time to follow up. On Sundays he and his Sabbath school class are holding a branch Sabbath school among the Indians. Money is being raised to furnish him with 25 copies of Our Little Friend each week and other needed materials.

The Shelton Sunshine Band has been visiting shut-ins not of our faith and singing gospel songs for them. As a result the sunshine band is now conducting several Bible studies each week with a good interest being shown.

A recent letter from Elder Patterson brings this interesting observation: "It shows good cooperation and a good Christian spirit for a worker to take over a district, continue with the interested ones, and call the former pastor back to baptize these people. This was what happened September 30 when Elder Aimes called me to come and baptize five people in the Bremer-ton district. Surely the Lord is pleased as we all were."

M. A. Degree Approved

The five year teacher training curriculum leading to the master of arts degree with a major in education being offered for the first time at Walla Walla College this year was approved by the General Conference in Autumn Council at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Proving its utility and popularity from the very beginning, this new program offering the advanced degree in our own denominational college has attracted several enrollees the first year. As time permits, many of our academy and church school teachers will want to pursue this course to its completion. Courses leading to the M. A. degree will be offered in the summer sessions for the convenience of such teachers.

Autumn Quarter Programs

Walla Walla College Saturday night programs for the remainder of the autumn quarter are scheduled as follows:

November 11—Frank Asper (Organ)
November 18—Amateur Hour
November 25—Thanksgiving Recess
December 2—de Paur Infantry
Chorus

December 9—Open Night
December 16—Campus School
December 23—Christmas Vacation
December 30—Christmas Vacation

All programs will be presented in Columbia Auditorium and are scheduled to begin promptly at 8 p.m. The November 11 and December 2 programs are regular lyceum numbers open to holders of season tickets on presentation of the same. Others will be admitted upon payment of separate program fees.

Faculty-Student Counseling

The counseling program of Walla Walla College, launched by its director, Dean Henry L. Sonnenberg, is underway for the school year with a majority of the students and faculty participating.

Inaugurated at Walla Walla College four years ago, the counseling program is a voluntary plan, giving the student an opportunity to have a counselor of his choice. This is in addition to the advisor assigned to each student by his major department.

This program, designed to aid students in making decisions and in orientating to their college life through counsel with faculty members (also voluntary participants in the program) of mature judgment and experience, has proved beneficial to students and faculty alike.

Reaching beyond the scholastic scope of the classroom, the plan sets apart in personal interviews the counselor and counselee as individuals, bringing about a closer faculty-student relationship. It provides an outlet for student opinion and a demonstration of faculty understanding.

Educational Department News

An 8 per cent increase over a year ago in the enrollment of the church schools of the Washington Conference is revealed by a compilation of the figures from the opening report of the schools. The aggregate total of students is exactly 800, distributed among 24 schools, employing 50 teachers.

Two new schools have opened for the first time this year, one at Forks, at the northwest tip of these United States, and the other at Highland Park, a suburb of Seattle. Cleo Lile is the pioneering teacher in the Forks schools, while Beverly Kyes is ably establishing the church school pattern at Highland Park. The members of these respective churches are very thankful for these schools and continue to sacrifice in building up the work there.

At a recent board meeting at Forks, an action was taken purchasing a piece of property for the construction of a school house separate from the church, which action will lead to a strengthening of the work in that place.

Word comes from the enthusiastic principal of the Shelton school, Brother Jan Doward, to the effect that a miniature army obstacle course is being constructed in the recently cleared woods about the school which will provide scenes for some of the action being planned for a moving picture of the school activities now being taken. This movie, entitled "Forty Feet Forward," pictures the activities of the twenty students including the usual school day and featuring some amusing antics of the more extroverted.

Brother Doward writes: "We hope to bring before the public a typical, authentic record of school life. The film will be finished next spring and will be approximately thirty minutes in length. 'Forty Feet Forward' has possibilities of becoming a success."

Nature and camp craft clubs have been organized at the Shelton school that now plan for periodic camera hunts into the Olympic National Park. The program calls for the teaching of an appreciation of God's out-of-doors and means of handling oneself in isolated areas.

Brother Doward's enthusiasm for the school work knows no bounds. He is thrilled with the opportunity of working with youth in helping to mold their lives. That which is true of him is true of others, for the many young men teaching in the Washington Conference schools are finding that this work pays large dividends of satisfaction in fruitful evangelism. There is no nicer work. It challenges the most competent youth that can be found in our ranks.

Activities of other schools will be brought to the attention of the constituency periodically throughout the course of the year. Watch for them.

Washington Conference Missionary Volunteer Rally

It was a high honor for the Washington Conference to be the host to the Missionary Volunteer secretaries of the six conferences of the Pacific Union and the other four conferences of the North Pacific Union. The Missionary Volunteer Council was under the direction of Elder T. Lucas of the General Conference M. V. Department, Elder J. R. Nelson of the Pacific Union, and Elder G. W. Chambers of the North Pacific Union. A greater "Share Your Faith" crusade was emphasized throughout the council period.

As a finale to the four-day session, a conference-wide Missionary Volunteer rally had been planned. The Friday night meeting was conducted in the Central Seventh-day Adventist church in Seattle. All the Sabbath day and Saturday night services were conducted in the Masonic Temple. The attendance was outstanding in all the meetings. Sabbath morning, Elder Lucas thrilled an overflowing auditorium audience with a challenge from God's Word. The young people were very responsive to his call to a new consecration.

Sabbath afternoon was dedicated to "Share Your Faith" in action. The youth leaders from both unions thrilled the audience with their reports of how young people are "Sharing Their Faith." It was also a heart-warming
