UNION SCORES IN WATCHMAN CONTEST

Dorothy Foreman and Helen Gardner
Each Win a First Prize

Again Union College has taken the laurels in the intercollegiate contest in connection with the "Watchman" Educational Service. Three students of the English department won prizes in this year's contest, the returns of which were received Thursday. Miss Dorothy Foreman's article entitled "Homesick for Heaven" took a first prize; Miss Helen Gardner's article entitled "Christ, Our Rest" also won a first prize; and George Stotz took a third prize with his article "Which Day Did Christ Keep?"

Nine prizes were awarded in this contest—a first, a second, and a third for each of the three subjects assigned: "The Second Coming of Christ," "The Nature of Man," and "The Sabbath." Union students took two first prizes. This record accords well with the records made by students in past years. Last year Union College students received six of the nine prizes offered by the "Watchman." Those receiving prizes last year were Ethel Lindahl, H. B. Christianson, George Hutches, Letha Taylor, Max Christianson, and Henry Meyer.

In the contest this year Broadview Theological Seminary took one first prize, two second prizes, and one third prize; and Pacific Union College took one second prize.

R. B. Thurber, editor of the "Watchman" magazine, says that a number of the other articles from Union students are meritorious, although they did not win prizes. In a letter to Miss Rochelle Philmon, head of the English department, Mr. Thurber says, "Union College did wonderfully well, and we are happy to send on the prize books as soon as possible."

For four years Union students have also entered the "Signs of the Times" contests. The returns on this year's entries in the "Signs" contest have not as yet been received, but F. D. Nichols, one of the editors, says that the articles will be appraised before the close of the school year.

PACKED HOUSE HEARS CHURCH SCHOOL PROGRAM

Varied Program Well Given by Children

Everywhere one hears it said that the program given by the church school on Sunday night, April 10, was one of the best that has ever been given in College View. The Union College chapel was filled to capacity, and many had to stand during the evening.

The program consisted of songs, dialogues, recitations, drills, etc., and these were so varied and full of interest, so well given by the children, too, that no one's attention lagged.

Every number reflected the careful training given by the teachers, Mrs. Royal Tucker, Miss Sydney Smith, and Miss Myrtle Reinmuth. Especially well given and full of interest were the reading, "Mother's Dress," given by Edna Welch, and the song, "Bed-time Again," by the first grade.

A silver offering amounting to $23 was taken.

Missionary Volunteers Announce Sacred Musical

The Missionary Volunteer officers announce that a sacred musicale will be given Friday night, April 15, at the regular meeting of the society in the college chapel. The music is under the direction of Professor W. I. Morey and will be given by the special choir.

B. E. WAGNER TELLS OF MISSIONARY TRIPS

Empty Seats Receiving Extraordinary
Amount of Attention

The main feature of the Union College Sabbath school, April 9, was the missions talk by B. E. Wagner, returned missionary from Inter-America. He told graphically how the Seventh-day Adventist faith entered Barbados and British Guiana through the distribution of literature on ocean-going ships. He described his visit to churches in British Guiana and Venezuela.

Professor G. C. Jorgensen sketched the careers of two of his college chums, showing how one placed all his energies into the propagation of the gospel, while the other entered into native politics and was thus turned aside from his early purpose. The talk was illustrated by chemical experiments.

The special music was "Magdalene" by Professor Morey's choir.

Mrs. George Mathews, in her secretary's report, continued the dialogue among the empty chapel seats, registering their replies to the accusations which Professor D. G. Hilts had brought against them the previous Sabbath.

Senior Gives Track Exhibition on O Street

One day last week Louis Hansen went down to buy a new spring hat. Being a senior, he thought it wise to get the best, so he bought a stylish, light grey Stetson, and left the store proudly wearing the new hat. Everything went well until a gust of wind swept the new bonnet from his head. Down the middle of the street it went with Louis in hot pursuit. Once he almost caught it; then another whiff of wind took it across the street right in front of a street car. After he had barely escaped getting run over by the street car, the traffic light changed and he was cut off from his rolling hat by a string of cars. When he finally recovered the hat he found it necessary to send it to the cleaners.

It has been noticed that Louis is going bare-headed of late—perhaps he considers it safer.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO GIVE PROGRAM ON APRIL 16

On Saturday evening, April 16, at eight o'clock, the students of the music department will give a public recital in the college chapel. The program will consist of vocal, violin, and piano numbers, and will begin promptly at eight o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend the recital.

MANY STUDENTS HEAR ST. OLAF CHOIR

An Audience of Over 3,000 Pack
St. Paul's Methodist Church

Union College music lovers turned out en masse Saturday night to hear the concert given by the St. Olaf Lutheran Choir. St. Paul's Methodist Church was packed, and many were standing in the back of the auditorium and vestibules. It is estimated that nearly 3,000 persons listened to these singers.

Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, the director, won his audience from the first. His directing was undemonstrative, in many respects quite distinctive, but always expressive and sympathetic. He has trained his choir remarkably, and every number showed his careful workmanship.

From the first number, a difficult contrapuntal Bach selection, through a Latin choral from Liszt, and the fiery and vivid Norwegian folk songs of Grieg, to the more happy and melodious German Christmas songs, the program was one continuous enjoyable moment. One encore number after each of the three parts of the program was given to reward the prolonged applause of the audience. Mrs. Gertrude Doe-Overly, the soprano soloist, sang simply, but very beautifully. The tenor soloist, Mr. Osgood Westley, the audience would have been pleased to hear in more solo work than the numbers provided.

While in Lincoln, the members of the choir were the guests at dinner of the Lincoln a cappella choir, which is under the direction of John Rosborough. Some of the members of this choir accompanied the St. Olaf choir on leaving, and will sing with them in their concerts given the first part of this week at York and Omaha, Nebr.

MORE 1927 SENIORS RECEIVE POSITIONS

Bertha Astleford and Otto Lenz
Elected to Faculty of Sheyenne
River Academy

Miss Bertha Astleford and Mr. Otto Lenz, college seniors, have been hired by the Sheyenne River Academy, Harvey, N. Dak., to be members of their faculty for the next school year. Miss Astleford will be preceptress of the academy, and Mr. Lenz will be preceptor. Mrs. Lenz will have the position of matron.

Miss Astleford has attended Union College for two years, and has spent many years in the colporteur work. He was preceptress at Sheyenne River Academy for two years before coming to Union. Mr. Lenz has been in school here only one year.

MRS. NORMAN WILES VISITS UNION COLLEGE

For Many Years a Missionary to the New Hebrides — Planning to Return to the Islands

A very pleasant surprise was occasioned last week by the visit of Mrs. Norman Wiles, who was for many years a missionary among the natives of the New Hebrides Islands. She is going back in a short time to connect with a new mission station that is being established on one of the islands—one of five that are now breaking the bands of heathenism in that field.

The girls enjoyed a worship talk which Mrs. Wiles gave Tuesday night on the life of the women in the islands. From early babyhood to death one word spells it all—misery. The missionaries are working hard in that mission field to lift the people from the great depths of degradation and sin into which they have gone, and are looking forward to the time when the results of their work will be fully realized.

Professional Seniors Make Striking Debut

In spite of the fact that some unknown culprit made away with a great many of the class caps, the Professionals "came out" with a grand flurry Monday noon, April 11.

Shortly after 12:00 the class, each member wearing a white sailor cap decorated with a coral band and a little Christmas tree, filed into the South Hall dining room. They took their places around a specially decorated table arranged in the form of the letter P.

In addition to the regular dinner, which they acclaimed to be extraordinarily good, ice cream and cake was served to them by Miss Kathryn Lutz. Miss Beth Townsend and Miss Annabelle Siebert entertained the group with a song that ran, "Oh, where, oh, where have our little caps gone?"

The Professional class colors are coral and white, their emblem is the pine tree, and their manner of display, as mentioned before, is a decorated sailor cap.

A private detective force, selected from the class, is at work searching for the one in possession of the missing head pieces. As yet no announcement has been made relative to any reward to be given for information concerning the offender.

MRS. BRUCE UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. Ethyl Bruce, one of the college seniors, underwent a thyroidectomy, on Thursday, April 7. It is not certain whether or not she will be able to finish her school work in May.

BEL CANTO FOUR TO ASSIST IN SPECIAL RADIO PROGRAM

Vocal Selections Are Big Features for April 17 Concert

The special feature of the program for April 17 will be selections sung by the Bel Canto Four. This quartet is well known in Lincoln; all the members are students of Miss Edith Lucille Robbins, a prominent vocal teacher in the city. The personnel of the quartet is as follows: Misses Estelle Kiehnhoff, soprano; Miss Nina Wakelin, alto; Wesley Clark, tenor; and Paul Pence, bass.

The program to be broadcast Sunday evening, April 17, at nine o'clock is as follows:

PROFESSOR SAXTON AD- DRESSES BIBLE WORKERS

Tells of Different Methods of Bible Study

Professor H. F. Saxton addressed the Bible workers' band on Friday evening, April 8, on the subject, "Methods of Bible Study." "The only method that most people use," stated Professor Saxton, "is that of reading the Bible through without giving it any particular study, merely with the goal in view of obtaining a Bible-year certificate." He further stated that the custom of reading the Bible through was a very good custom if a few rules were applied, for it gives one a far better view of the Bible as a whole than can be obtained in any other way, especially if a whole book can be read at one sitting. Each time the Bible is read through, the reader should look for all references to some certain subject, and these should be underlined or written in a notebook.

The second method of study which Professor Saxton mentioned is the "topic method." With the use of a good concordance one should look up all references pertaining to any certain subject and write them in his notebook, and then write up a summary of the conclusions he has drawn from his study.

"The only way in which to become thoroughly familiar with the contents of the Bible is to study it one book at a time, reading the book through ten or twelve times before giving it any Union should have five hundred college students next year. Why not? And there would be more too, if it were known more widely that Union offers to earnest students advantages second to none.

Did you know that the scholastic standard maintained at Union is widely recognized; that grades from this institution are questioned less, perhaps, than those of any of our sister colleges? We are accredited with the University of Nebraska and other universities, and consequently our students pass without difficulty to those places of higher learning.

A young lady from Canada, who was preparing for work in a foreign field, was asked why she came to Union; she replied that it was because Union was the only one of our colleges recognized by the Canadian government.

It should be known, also, that Union College graduates occupy many prominent positions in all parts of the world. They include two vice-presidents of division conferences, four conference presidents, three mission superintendents, six college presidents, and thirteen department secretaries, besides a large number of workers acting in various responsible capacities.

The heads of departments and the other teachers of Union are eminently qualified for the positions they hold. This guarantees a high educational standard and public recognition. But this in no way detracts from the strong Christian influence that should be found in such an institution, as is assumed very often. In Union it is found that a correct educational standard is an adjunct of true Christianity.

Union College has not been advertised enough. The strong enrolment campaigns made by other colleges have benefited them considerably, and a similar result would come to Union if we, as faculty and students, make it known far and near that we have faith in our college. If this college is good enough for you to teach in, it is good enough to boost for. If this college is good enough for you to attend as a student, it is good enough to bring others to. Our aim should be five hundred students next year.

The Poet's Corner

There will appear in this column from time to time contributions from those who write verse of merit. The following lines were written by Wesley Andress and were read before the Writers' Club:

OVER THE TOP AT TWO

Did you never go over at two a.m.
While the stars were still a-shining?
While the moon looked down like a brand new dime
In a pocket of velvet lining?

Did you never go over the top at all,
While the stars were still a-shining?
You and your buddies, rifles and all,
Stealthily, steadily climbing?

Over the top to the great unknown,
Out into "no-man's-land"?
Not where the star-shells hum and groan,
Not over sacks of sand;

But over the top of the cliffs at two,
And into the great unknown;
Where ghostly shadows follow you,
And the wild things rule alone.

Did you never go over the top at two
While the stars were still a-shining?
And the moon was bright and the sky was blue,
And the wind through the pines was whining?

They were discussing at the table
Methods of detecting erasures in the

Miss Babcock: Another good way to find erasures is to rub the paper that sensitive!

further study," declared Professor Saxton. After doing that one should look up who the author is, and the circumstances under which it was written, and also find what other Biblical authors said concerning the subjects treated in the book.

The talk aroused so much enthusiasm in the study of the Bible among the members of the Bible workers' band that one member was overheard to say, "I can hardly wait until I get home to start in."

News from Other Colleges

"The Southland," a monthly newspaper published by Southwestern Junior College, is being discontinued, according to the April number of that publication. Financial difficulties attendant upon publishing a school journal is given as the reason for the discontinuance. The Southwestern Junior College expects to direct more of its energies into its annual, and thus compensate for the loss of its paper.

Professor H. J. Klooster, who is now president and business manager of the Canadian Junior College, will be the president of the Southern Junior College, Ooltewah, Tenn., next year.

Vox Populi

The Clock Tower:

Anticipation is not always greater than realization. Tuning in on the "Messenger" for the first time in three years, only to hear its death knell, naturally made me feel a bit sad.

A weekly newspaper! That sounded good, but—?

Six copies have arrived and the question mark is removed. When the Clock Tower arrives, the strike is on and work ceases for thirty minutes. It carries me back to college days at "Old Union," and I almost wish I were there again. I had not anticipated a weekly of such quality. It is good, and good for something.

The College Farm

An interesting department of Union College is the well-equipped farm of one hundred twenty acres, which provides much of the food consumed in the college dining room besides providing work for six or seven students all winter, and four or five students during the summer vacation.

The college owns a splendid dairy herd of thirty-two cattle, twenty of which are registered Holsteins, and the rest of which are Guernseys. The plan is to maintain a herd of the two breeds, keeping the Holsteins for the quantity and the Guernsey for the quality of production.

The feed for the livestock is produced on the farm. This includes one hundred tons of alfalfa hay and sufficient ensilage to fill the two silos whose combined capacity is three hundred tons. Much of the fruit and vegetables consumed in the college dining room is raised on the farm. Two acres are set in berries and a sufficient space is allowed for considerable garden truck to be produced, much of which is preserved in the cannery situated near the power house.

The large barn on the farm will accommodate thirty-four cattle in the stanchions; besides there are four box stalls. The loft is large enough to store the hundred tons of alfalfa hay which is required for the year's consumption.

The farm also owns a fine flock of English and American white leghorn chickens. The 600 hens produce on the average 360 eggs daily. There are 1850 young chicks. The ample facilities for caring for the chickens include two incubators of fifteen hundred capacity each, and two Simplex brooders having the same capacities. Most of the young chicks were purchased this year, but next year it is planned to use the incubators to hatch as many young chicks as are needed.

The Academy

W. D. Kieser, field secretary of the Colorado Conference, occupied the chapel hour on Tuesday, April 5. On the following Thursday D. T. Sniderman, field secretary of the Nebraska Conference, talked to the students.

The junior and the senior classes of the academy have organized. The names of the ten seniors are as follows: Lucile Flyger, Darline Clark, Marie Saunders, Anna Blanche Moore, Marguerite Winter, Ella Meyers, Dorothy Wells, Margaret Kies, Edward Clark, and Daton Adamson. Mr. Clark is the class president. There are about sixteen juniors.

Miss Clara Culver, Miss Elsie Hoatson, and Miss Helen Foreman rendered the regular Friday musical program during the chapel hour on April 8. Miss Culver sang two selections, and Miss Hoatson gave a cornet solo. Both were accompanied by Miss Foreman at the piano.

Church Items

A very interesting meeting was held last Sabbath morning in the north vestry of the church. It was the occasion of the regular men's prayer meeting which meets every Sabbath morning.

The College View Sabbath school voted a goal of $2,340 for the present quarter. A new device was brought before the large school which is designed to help in the raising of that amount.

Pastor R. T. Baer addressed the Home and School Association at their meeting last Thursday evening. The association is planning two very interesting programs to be given before the close of school.

Elder Blosser was the speaker at the eleven o'clock service in the church last Sabbath. Other field missionary secretaries from the several conferences in the Central Union were also present at the Sabbath service. The Northern Union was represented by Mr. Campbell. These secretaries were assisting Elder Blosser in the college colporteur institute.

At the church service next Sabbath, those who went forward recently in the ordinance of baptism will receive the right hand of fellowship.

The church missionary society has received a large number of very encouraging letters from friends in Cass County to whom literature has been sent. Definite plans are being laid to follow up the interest which has been developed.

The Dorcas Society of the church is doing splendid work through the sale of aprons and through quilting work. Along with their other work, they plan to raise enough money to place a neat floor covering on the east vestry floor. When this is accomplished, all the vestries will be equipped with appropriate floor coverings.

A young woman who went to Columbia to take her degree of doctor of philosophy married her professor in the middle of her second year. When she announced her engagement, one of her friends said, "But, Edith, I thought you came up here to get your Ph. D."

"So I did," replied Edith, "but I had no idea I would get him so soon."—Everybody's Magazine.

Professor (in geometry class): Well, Cholly, can you prove any of the theorems this morning?

Cholly (who has entered class late): I don't know whether I can prove any or not, but I can render several of them highly probable.—Educational Messenger, February, 1918.

A large number of the Union College a cappella choir reserved a balcony in the St. Paul church of Lincoln and attended the concert given by the St. Olaf a cappella choir from the Lutheran college at Northfield, Minn. All were intent upon the entire performance, but were particularly pleased when the choir responded to an encore by singing "Beautiful Saviour," which is a number on which they are rehearsing. It is quite evident that the Union College choir is being trained along the recognized plan for a cappella singing. The choir is to present the seventh number of the lecture course on Saturday evening, April 23.

Mr. Morey's studio choir rendered an Easter cantata at the reformatory last Thursday evening. The music was so much enjoyed, that the usual time for programs was extended so that the choir might render other Easter numbers which they had prepared.

Helen and Dorothy Foreman had dinner at the home of Lieutenant-governor and Mrs. George A. Williams on Saturday, April 16.

The professional seniors will have charge of the Sabbath school on April 23.

Mrs. C. Gordon, from Denver, Colo., has been visiting her son Calvin, of South Hall, for a few days.

Last Tuesday afternoon was kite-flying day at the church school. A great many took part.

The Morrison house, one of the oldest in College View, was moved one-half block from its former location on the corner across from the A. B. A. Garage. The site was purchased by the Standard Oil Company who will begin work immediately on a filling station. The building was purchased from Chas. Knowlton by Mrs. J. S. Dickman, who plans to have it remodeled and used as an apartment house. Unusual difficulties were encountered in the moving, for the main telephone cable had to be lowered and the street car track was crossed after midnight when no cars were running.

B. L. Morse is doing his part in getting out the 1927 issue of "Golden Cords." He works until 1:00 a. m. every evening preparing pictures for the annual.

The students from North Dakota spent Saturday evening at the robbers' caves.

Walter Thomas left the college Sunday, April 10, for his home in Tekamah, Nebr., on account of the illness of his father.

Miss Maxine Hamilton, from Glenwood, Iowa, has been visiting Misses Dorothy and Winifred McCormack, of North Hall, during the past week.

Students of history were reminded of the ancient proscription lists of Rome by the long lists of names appearing on the bulletin board daily last week. The individuals whose names were on the board were requested to meet the president in his office, it being generally understood that the admission fee for each student was one dollar. It is believed that the chapel attendance will be improved hereafter.

Delmar Curtis, from Campion Colo., stopped at the college last week to visit his cousin, Vernon Dunn. Mr. Curtis is on his way to Hinsdale, Ill., to take the nurses' training.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. Griggs, of the class of '24, now of Shanghai, China, announce the arrival of a son, Gordon Philip, on February 1.—Medical Evangelist.

Mrs. Chas. Plumb, wife of Dr. Chas. Plumb, of Los Angeles, is in College View visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Beardsley. Mrs. Plumb was graduated in the class of '21.

Marcus Odegaard, field secretary of the Minnesota Conference, spoke to the men of South Hall, Thursday evening in worship, on the text "Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness." He cited several interesting experiences he had had when this text helped him in his canvassing.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Yaeger, Saturday, April 2.

A reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Andrus at the home of his parents last Tuesday night. About thirty guests were present.

Monday night a neighborhood party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Craun. The occasion was their twenty-first wedding anniversary. The twenty-eight guests present presented Mr. and Mrs. Craun with a bridge lamp.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR ELSIE DIXON

Miss Elsie Dixon was surprised by a birthday party given in her honor by Misses Dorothy Foreman and Marybelle Huffman, Monday evening, April 4. The guests assembled in the North Hall luncheon room at five o'clock. Miss Rees acted as chaperon. Before the luncheon Miss Dixon displayed the various gifts which she had received. The luncheon was served in three courses, the last being pineapple sherbert with dainty cakes.

KAPPA THETA

The Kappa Theta program given in the North Hall worship room last Wednesday evening was on Indian music and poetry. Miss Grace Cole described Indian verse as a chant with a laughing, weird, melancholy effect when it is chanted by the Indians. She read some poems from various tribes and pointed out how the characteristics of each are portrayed in their music and verse. Miss Cole closed her talk by telling of an Indian pow-wow which she had witnessed. The rest of the program was Indian music. Helen Foreman sang "Indian Dawn" and the North Hall orchestra played two selections.

FOUND

A Black Patent Leather Purse That Was More than a Purse

Evidence has been produced to prove that men's pockets haven't anything on women's purses when it comes to a variety of contents. The evidence in question was unearthed in Union College last week when a certain curious student catalogued the following articles found in a black patent leather purse:

Six pictures.
One letter.
Two handkerchiefs.
One ticket.
Three combs.
One spool of thread.
One needle.
One pair of shears.
Eight (8) sticks of gum.
Two erasers.
Two pencils.
One purse.
One compact—full of rouge.
One jewelry box.
One weapon in the form of a nail file.
Seven keys and key ring.
One pancake in form of powder puff.
One cuff button (whose?).
Three safety pins.
Three hair clips.
One paper clip.
Four hairpins.
One button.
One stamp.
One-half dollar (borrowed?).
One memorandum.
One address.

HIGH SCHOOL

The senior class party was held in the gymnasium, Wednesday night. Over one hundred and fifty attended the mother-daughter banquet held in the gymnasium last Thursday night. An address was given by Mrs. Clayton of Lincoln.

The agriculture class, under the direction of Mrs. Degering will be required to cultivate a garden plot until the close of school. The grade in agriculture will be dependent upon the student's success in this project.

Miss Gertrude Gove, fifth grade teacher in the south ward school, was ill Friday. Miss Sadie Click substituted for her.

From a College Girl's Diary

WEDNESDAY, December Fourth—telephoned home tonight and talked with Mother and Dad. They both were thrilled to hear my voice! I'm going to telephone them regularly hereafter. Mother told me all about—"but let us peep no more into the young lady's personal memoirs."

Sufficient to say that every Wednesday since December fourth finds an entry of a telephone call home to Mother and Dad.

Just this little glimpse tells us that here is one of those College Girls—girls who are so thoroughly modern in everything they do—even to their method of keeping in touch with the people at home. They make the most of opportunities and they get the most out of college.

Are you one of the thousands of American College Girls who find encouragement and inspiration in weekly telephone chats with Mother and Dad?
