COUNTY ATTORNEY TO INVESTIGATE RECENT ELECTION

Citizens Charge Students Vote Illegal

A committee of College View citizens called on County Attorney Max Towle Saturday morning, April 23, and presented charges of irregularities in the recent city election.

Mr. Towle promised to start an investigation at once. He will ask members of the election board to call on him and give a statement of the facts, and will interview the president and some of the students of Union College.

The committee was appointed at a mass meeting held in the high school auditorium at College View, Thursday evening, April 21. The mass meeting was called for the purpose of correcting certain alleged irregularities which occurred at the polls on election day, April 5; but the evident object was an attempt on the part of the citizens in favor of annexation to Lincoln to discover some pretext

PRESIDENT WOLFKILL OF BERRIEN SPRINGS ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Declares That Truth Synchronizes with Truth, That Truth Never Contradicts

G. F. Wolfkill, former professor of chemistry here and now president of Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Mich., stopped for a short visit at Union College on April 20.

While here Professor Wolfkill spoke in chapel, presenting the question, "What is truth?" He declared, "Pilate asked Christ this question over two thousand years ago, and it is just as important today as it was then. We face it every day, every hour, and in every class. Is the Bible true or false? Is the story of creation as found in Genesis true or false?" He emphasized that every truth is consistent with every other truth; that truth synchronizes with truth; and that truth never contradicts truth.

Professor Wolfkill continued, "Truth will take us from the smallest atom to the largest world in the universe. We should never stop short of all truth; but we should extend our study and search with an open, active, alert mind. Even after graduation we should keep searching, because this is only the beginning of truth. We must strive to reach the perfection of the source and originator of truth, Jehovah."

Professor Wolfkill brought greetings from the students of Berrien Springs. He stated that they have a senior class of more than fifty. He told of how Berrien Springs students are now enjoying the use of their new chapel, which seats six hundred persons on the main floor, four hundred in the balcony, and one hundred on the platform. In the same building are six classrooms, seating three hundred students.

Leffingwell to Head Union Commercial Department

Forrest Leffingwell, who is teaching at Mt. Ayr, Iowa, this winter, will have charge of the commercial department at Union next year. Mr. Leffingwell has finished a business course at the Hoel-Ross Business College at Grand Junction, Colo., and was graduated from Union in 1926.

Mr. Leffingwell takes the place of Professor Rex Jacobson, who is leaving the college to take post-graduate work.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR GIVES FINAL NUMBER OF LECTURE COURSE

A Varied Program of Sacred and Secular Numbers Is Rendered

On Saturday evening, April 23, the Union College a cappella choir, under the direction of Professor W. I. Morey, assisted by Estelle Kiehnhoff, soprano, and Carl C. Engel and Clayoma Engel, violinists, gave the final number of the 1926-27 lecture course.

The audience, although a little smaller than for some other programs this year, was very quiet and appreciative throughout the program.

The two selections by Christiansen were very well rendered. The contrasting themes and the striking and unusual harmonies, which partook of the character of Norwegian music, in the "Hosanna" was excellent. The "Beautiful Saviour" is founded on a familiar hymn tune in several variations.

The familiar "Norwegian Dance," by Grieg, and "Humoresque," by Dvorak, played by Professor Engel and Clayoma were like hearing an old story in a new way. The fiery and impulsive "Hungary," by Moszkowski, received prolonged applause.

Miss Kiehnhoff's rendering of the "Aria-Caro Nome," by Verdi, in its light and graceful coloratura singing was especially delightful.

The last group of selections by the choir had piano accompaniment and was a fitting climax for the program.

PROFESSIONALS GIVE SABBATH SCHOOL PROGRAM

Professor Jorgensen Plays Solo and Both Townsend Gives Reading

A very interesting program was given by the members of the professional senior class, who had charge of the Sabbath school, April 23. Miss Edna Simon played a cornet solo, and Miss Annabelle Siebert gave the secretary's report in the form of a pianologue. A piano solo by Professor Jorgensen and a reading, "The Raising of the Daughter of Jairus," by Miss Beth Townsend, were much appreciated. The review was in the form of a dialogue and was given by Miss Pearl Hartwell, Miss Esther Guishard, and Mrs. Mary Kelsey.

CURRICULUM COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES SEVERAL NEW COURSES

Many Additional Classes to Be Carried During Next School Year

Professor W. J. McComb, chairman of the committee on courses and curriculum, announces several interesting changes in the curriculum for next year.

All modern language courses which are three-hour classes this year will be four-hour classes next year. This will allow sufficient expansion to permit some work in composition and conversation, as well as in reading and translation.

In the science department some changes are being made also. It is possible that a class in pedagogy of mathematics and also advanced classes in college algebra and college physics will be offered.

The Bible department is to offer a class in pastoral training, open to students who have had the course in homiletics. Elder Meiklejohn will remain with the department as a part-time instructor, although he will retain his position as pastor of the Lincoln Seventh-day Adventist church.

In the English department, American literature and comparative literature will not be offered next year, but classes in contemporary literature and also methods of teaching English will be given. The other classes will remain unchanged. The classes in public speaking and library science will also be offered.

No new courses will be offered in the history department, but by the alternation plan, the following classes that are not being taught this year will be offered next year: French Revolution, Napoleonic history, English history, Greek and Roman history and American government.

The ministerial course will be broadened so as to allow the ministerial student more latitude in the matter of electives, though the course remains fundamentally the same.

The course in advanced normal has reduced the number of required hours in professional training in order to make room for more hours in practical subjects. The normal student will be permitted to include American history or mathematics in his program under the new plan.

The pre-medical department has also granted more latitude in the matter of electives, allowing an additional amount of language study.

The committee on courses and curriculum feels that the changes that are to be made are substantial improvements in the courses, and that in each case the changes will tend to give the student a broader background for his further study.

Jonathan Bietz Receives Appointment

Jonathan Bietz, college senior, will teach science and mathematics in the Pleasanton, Nebr., high school next year. Mr. Bietz was graduated from the Clinton Theological Seminary, Clinton, Mo. He has taken his college work at Clinton Seminary, Walla Walla College, and Union College.

Duane Cowin to Teach at Rising City

Duane Cowin, college senior, has signed a contract with the Rising City, Nebr., public schools to teach mathematics and athletics there next year.

Mr. Cowin was graduated from Shelton Academy, Shelton, Nebr., in 1923. He was the business manager of the "Sheltonian" at that time. He has been in attendance at Union during the last four years.

PACIFIC PRESS DONATES $1000 FOR PRINT- ING LABORATORY

J. H. Cochran Chapel Speaker April 27

Union College is the grateful recipient of a check for $1,000, presented by the Pacific Press Publishing Association of Mountain View, Calif. It will be used to provide facilities for the teaching and practice of printing, thus assuring the Union College Press of properly trained help, and adding materially to the strength of the industrial departments of the school.

J. H. Cochran is visiting Union College and spoke to the students at the chapel hour yesterday. After mentioning some of the requests made by President Thiel in the past, he spoke of the latest one for funds to provide printing laboratory equipment. "A thousand dollars is quite a sum, as you will agree," continued Mr. Cochran, "and we could hardly be expected to grant such a large request, especially since it would be sure to bring forth requests from other schools in our large territory. However," and he produced a slip of paper of conventional size, "it gives me great pleasure, Professor Thiel, to hand you our check for one thousand dollars for the purpose specified." There was hearty applause as President Thiel accepted the gift and made a short speech of appreciation.

Mr. Cochran then continued his address. The publishing house he represents has just concluded a five-year program involving the establishment of printing plants in foreign countries, and is regularly sponsoring the International Branch at Brookfield, where religious literature is produced in twenty-six languages, and also a mission plant in the Canal Zone where Spanish literature is prepared.

The Pacific Press donated the 250 hymn books now in use at the college.

Editorial

The slogan "honesty is the best policy" has rung in the ears of American citizens ever since umbrellas were invented and people began to walk off with them; but it seems that some college students have failed to comprehend the extent of its applicability. We have observed that it takes no longer, in many cases, for a college parasite to write out the lesson himself than it does to copy it from his classmate's paper—unless the said classmate is kind enough to make a carbon copy of it. It would seem, therefore, that the parasites that are frequently found around educational centers would be willing to put forth a little extra energy while they are in college so as not to lose their chance of future success, and bar themselves from eternal life through their dishonesty.

The question now arises as to what the 1928 classes will choose for emblems. With the exception of the smoke stacks and the brick sidewalks, almost everything characteristic of the campus has been used. It is a pitiable situation when grown-up college students take on high school manners and regalia, and lean toward the high school type of activity. It is hoped that there will soon arise a class that will assume some of the dignity that we expect of college students.

From the Messenger

FOUR YEARS AGO THIS MONTH

Lenore Brewer and Verner Anderson gave their junior oratory recitals on Saturday evening, March 11.

The professional and academic classes have organized and are displaying their colors. Officers for the professionals are Rex Jacobson, president; Mrs. Raymond France, vice-president; Vera Howard, secretary; and Harley Rupert, treasurer.

Janice McCormack enjoyed a visit from her aunt, Miss Jane McCormack, last week.

EIGHT YEARS AGO THIS MONTH

Professor H. A. Morrison has again left us to attend the General Conference at San Francisco.

Union/College showed its loyalty to the temperance movement by attending a lecture by William Jennings Bryan in the city auditorium, March 19.

The Adventist soldier boys in Camp Funston were excused from all duties on Sabbath as a result of the visit there by Professor W. W. Ruble.

The Poet's Corner

There will appear in this column from time to time contributions from those who write verse of merit. The following lines were written by Roger Altman and read before the Writers' Club:

THE SPRAY

Spray of the salty sea! My feet
Burn for thy cooling sand.
Breath of the billows, breathe on me,
I'm weary of the land.
Foam on the wind! My thirsty lips
Part for thy heady wine,
Blown from the cask whose rocky lees
Lie steeping in the brine.

Boom of the surf, blaze of the dawn,
Spell of a southern star,
Blue-water trail with a belying sail,
Lure of the lands afar;

Heave of the restless sea! My soul
Stagnant and cramped and pale,
Withers for sight of a harbor light
From the stern of a schooner's rail!

FROM THE WOODWORKING DEPARTMENT

The woodworking department, under the supervision of A. G. Ortner, has accomplished much this year, and at the present time is swamped with work. They are now making window frames, screens, and screen doors for four houses. Their screen doors are known as the Union College cant-sag screen doors, and are made without glue or nails, by a lock joint method. Several hundred cabinet doors and drawers have been furnished for local builders. Two lockers, each containing sixty compartments, have been made for the chemistry and biological science laboratories, and repair work has been done for the different departments. Over five hundred chairs have been repaired during the school year.

The other evening an order for a set of battery shelves was received from Floyd Buck, of Havelock, and Mr. Ortner and some of his trusty helpers were seen working in the shop after the lights went out in order to give prompt service.

Not long ago a new addition to the building was made, giving greater working space.

Over a dozen students have worked during their spare time in this shop, and several have earned half to three-fourths of their school expenses. It is planned to give whole time employment to several students during the summer months as a great deal of work is anticipated.

Sentence Sermons

Edited by W. W. Prescott

He that is surrounded by the seraphim with veiled faces, who looketh and the earth melteth, before whom the nations are less than nothing, and vanity, he draws near to the believer and takes up his abode with him.

This is the victory which overcometh the world, even our Christ made present with all his glorious power by faith, so that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, whom shall I fear?

It would be difficult to conceive any addition to this promise. It contains within itself all conceivable wealth of blessing.

It is evident that the believer is not far from the place where Christ sits in glory. His words bid us take knowledge of him ascending up to the Father, and straightway they bid us find him in ourselves.

It is treason to humanity to propose working out your own salvation in a way that should secure your salvation and nothing else.

Men may spend some time in search before they embrace salvation in Christ; they may dignify delay by the name of search, but its true name is unbelief. Alas for the thief upon the cross, had he spent any time in such search!

There is no fear that faith will misuse this power, for the same faith that looks to the power of Christ looks also to his wisdom, and is guided implicitly by him.

It is the vocation of every believer in every generation to afford in his own person the evidence that Christ is risen.

SIGMA IOTA KAPPA

Professor H. U. Stevens spoke to the Sigma Iota Kappa, April 21, comparing the idea of good form in South America with that of the United States. He related one of his experiences as an illustration. While traveling by train on a very hot day he had removed his coat. When the conductor noticed it, he tapped Mr. Stevens on the shoulder and ordered him to put his coat on again. Professor Stevens said that the training of the small children of South America along these lines greatly impressed him while he was there.

WRITERS' CLUB PLANS SPECIAL LAST MEETING

Will Be Continued Next Year

The last regular meeting of the Writers' Club this year will be held in room 408 in the college building, May 5, 1927. At this time there will be special features which will bring to a fit close the work of this organization.

Miss Rochelle Philmon, organizer and sponsor of the club, says that there has been a lively interest manifested by the twenty-five members since the organization at the beginning of the second semester. In fact, nearly all have expressed their wish that the club be continued next year.

Over fifty manuscripts have been read before the club. These articles are read anonymously, and are then criticized by the members. Familiar essays, short stories, children's stories, lyrics—all sorts of manuscripts are praised or blamed by these aspiring writers and critics.

Some of the products of the club have proved meritorious enough for publication. These are sent to various magazines for their approval or rejection. In this way the members are trained to write for the various types of magazines. The Clock Tower has been publishing some of the best poems which have been presented to the club.

AFRICAN BAND PROGRAM

An original drama of Africa will be given by Jesse Cowdrick at the regular meeting of the African band, at 7:00 p. m., April 29. The meeting will be in room 203 in the college building.

This drama covers Africa from the time of the dispersion of races at the destruction of the tower of Babel down to the present age. It is distinctly a religious and missions drama, and deals with the intense moments of mission possibility in the history of the continent.

Mr. Cowdrick will impersonate the six speakers of the drama. Special music will be included in the program. The officers announce that visitors are cordially invited to be present.

COUNTY ATTORNEY TO INVESTIGATE

on which to deny the student population their right of franchise.

Various citizens spoke of irregularities which they had observed on election day. W. L. Westbrook, the official challenger at the polls, stated that about half of the students who voted answered to the question, "Is this your home?" as follows: "I am here for school only."

Mr. Kent, 3845 Sheridan, replied that he considered the matter of student votes purely one of legal right, and that if the student voter had resided the required amount of time in the city, it would be impossible to deny him his franchise.

J. H. Morrow, who guarded the polls after time for the voting to cease, reported seeing a man and his wife enter and cast their ballots after regular voting was supposed to have ceased.

At this point, Mr. Towping attempted to express his view that a reading of the exact law would be of more value than the mere opinions which were being freely expressed, but was denied the floor by the chairman, W. T. Davis, and was laughed down by the assembly.

Both Leon Palmer, of 315 South 40th Street, and the chairman brought in serious charges that Judge W. A. Forsythe was guilty of partisanship in the judging of eligibility of voters on election day.

C. J. Campbell, an attorney from Lincoln, next took the platform and read many of the laws with regard to voting, eligibility of voters, and the penalties for violation of these laws. He also read the questions which an election judge is required to ask of the citizen attempting to vote. He stated that the law provides that any one twenty-one years of age and having been a resident of the city for six months is entitled to a vote. He stated further that the whole question of student votes hinged on the question as to whether students were residents or not. He suggested as his opinion that students who had no home connections other than in College View would be entitled to a vote while those having parental connection or support elsewhere would not be entitled to a vote.

E. A. Jenkins, police judge of College View, then arose and read some laws which Attorney Campbell had evidently overlooked, or at least had failed to read. He insisted that the fact that a man carries a book under his arm is no reason for his disenfranchisement.

W. E. A. Aul arose to suggest that the effort to blacken the name of Judge Forsythe stop, but he was emphatically ordered to be seated by the chairman. When Mr. Aul insisted on claiming his right to speak, the chairman ordered the sergeant-at-arms to seat him; and eventually Mr. Aul took his seat.

I. W. Evans suggested the importance of such a mass meeting to bring about results, and suggested that the meeting be dismissed and that things be handled in a legal fashion.

William Day then arose and introduced a resolution which he had previously prepared, providing for the appointment of a committee of three to lay the evidence of the irregularities before the county attorney and secure whatever action could be obtained to annul the election.

Mr. Cooper, of South 40th Street, suggested that a more amicable settlement could be brought about, and Dr. Nicola, one of the oldest citizens in point of residence, started to speak against the measure, but was denied the opportunity of speaking to the question.

The resolution was carried almost unanimously in spite of the protest of these men. The committee appointed by the chair was composed of William Day, George Thomas, and Otto H. Zumwinkle.

At a meeting of the village board held at one o'clock Friday, April 22, the following resolution was drawn up and signed by all five members of the board:

Go to Hudson for the best. We buy nothing but the best but we don't want to keep it. Our soles and heels won't wear forever but they will wear well.

WHEREAS, There has been considerable complaint about alleged irregularities in the village election held on April 5, 1927, and

WHEREAS, These complaints have resulted in public meetings being held, at which serious charges were made about the alleged illegal voting, and

WHEREAS, The village board has questioned various witnesses, including the judge and city marshal,

Now, therefore the board finds, after due consideration of the charges and the statements made by the witnesses examined, that many voters were unable to vote because there was considerable congestion caused by unnecessary challenging of numerous persons who presented themselves as voters, and find there were no irregularities over which the election board had any control.

Resolved that we endorse the service of the election board and legally and otherwise have no sympathy with those endeavoring to hinder the progress of a regular election.

THE COLLEGE WORLD

THE COLLEGE is a world sufficient unto its inhabitants. What happens in it is of the highest importance; what goes on in the great world outside is, for the time being, a matter of but minor interest.

But don't forget that the folks at home are in that world outside and that they're thinking of you always. Possibly they're responsible for you being here--or maybe they merely lend aid, sympathy and encouragement.

At any rate you owe them more than a casual letter. What is more cheery and heartening than a telephone talk with them--what more reassuring?

MISSIONARIES TELL OF HAR- ROWING ESCAPE

Flee Over City Wall with Ropes Made of Bed Clothing

Letters have just been received from Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hartwell, former Union College students, relating their experiences in Nanking, China.

They write that while a soldier was looting the compound, the missionaries who were standing in the courtyard motioned for him to come toward them, as they wanted to give him the privilege of taking anything he wanted; but he raised his gun and shot directly at them. Lyman Shaw jumped over the wall, and six others lay on the ground. Soon, however, they joined Mr. Shaw in the retreat.

Finally, as they were scurrying about for a place of safety, the police came and told them that they could not attempt to protect them any longer, but one of the police carried a flag before them as they made their way toward the Standard Oil house. Marines joined them, but one of them was shot by a sniper. As he fell he returned the rifle fire and succeeded in killing two of the snipers. This frightened the troops and allowed the missionaries to reach their destination.

At the Standard Oil house, the Cantonese made repeated demands for money, getting several hundred dollars without much coaxing. The last time they came they demanded money or their lives. But at this tense moment the signal was given and the war-ship opened fire and soon the Chinese soldiers quickly disappeared.

As the missionaries fled they let themselves down from the city wall, fifty feet in height. They used sheets for ropes and several burned their hands, and one man fell twenty feet and broke his ankle. They were successful in gaining the ships in the bay, and were soon with their wives, who had been sent aboard the previous day.
