LADIES DISCOVER THAT MEN OF SOUTH HALL KEEP HOUSE WELL

Inspection of Rooms and Refreshments Are Features of Open House Program

"We, thy brothers of South Hall, invite thee, our sisters of North Hall, to our home on the evening after the Sabbath, November 19; our rooms are ready for thy inspection. Our pantry is being replenished for the refreshments."

This was the invitation brought by Bert McBroom, the representative of South Hall, to the girls as they were assembled at worship on Thursday evening.

The residents of North Hall were divided into small groups, which were met and escorted to South Hall by the young men, and left their places of abode every three minutes from eight o'clock until 8:30. Each group, after reaching South Hall, was confronted first by a remarkable change in the reception room. The floor had been sanded and polished and a new rug and a davenport constituted the new furnishings.

After ascending three flights of stairs, the girls began the room inspection. The only traffic regulation was "Keep to the right."

The insight into the rooms revealed the following outstanding points of interest: Alarm clocks are the most popular time pieces. "The Lone Wolf" is the favorite picture. The covers from the "Saturday Evening Post" make attractive wall decorations. Certain gentlemen deem it very necessary to keep the date in mind and therefore six calendars were found in one room. Perfect penmanship is the acquired gift of one South Hall inmate. Typewriters can evidently be used during study period. Cleanliness, neatness, and order prevailed. The boys have a uniform liking for pictures of Indian girls in all garbs and poses.

Pumpkin pie a la mode was served in the worship room and music was furnished by radio. A pink carnation was given to each girl.

From a group of girls which gathered in North Hall at the close of the evening's entertainment the following comments were heard, "Didn't we have a good time?" "Our brothers are wonderful hosts." "Weren't the rooms nice?" "That pie was good, too."

MRS. GRAHAM IS TAKEN HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Rex Graham, 835 L Street, who was injured in an automobile accident east of town Sunday evening, November 13, was removed from the St. Elizabeth's Hospital to the home of her mother on South Eleventh Street, Lincoln, Saturday, November 18.

Mrs. Graham was driving east of town when a car drove up behind her. She became frightened and lost control of the car, which ran into the ditch. Mrs. Graham was badly bruised and cut.

Birthday Party Given for Mrs. Prescott

Miss Elizabeth Francis, assisted by Miss Rochelle Philmon and Miss Hulda Gunther, entertained in honor of Mrs. W. W. Prescott's birthday, Monday afternoon, at the home of Miss Francis on West Eighth Street.

The refreshments beautifully carried out the color scheme of yellow and white.

SABBATH SCHOOL DIVISION HAS UNIQUE DEVICES

Lighthouse Used to Stimulate Interest in Offerings

The Junior B division of the College View Sabbath school, of which Miss Myrtle Maxwell, a college senior, is superintendent, has two unique devices to stimulate interest in mission offerings and daily lesson study.

One of the devices is a lighthouse having one large light and eight lower lights, one for each class. Each lower light is lighted when the corresponding class has reached its goal in offerings. The large light is lighted only when all the lower lights are burning. Every light in the lighthouse has been lighted every Sabbath since the device was completed.

The device which shows the percentage of each class is a dark mission field with a white ladder reaching to it. Each class has a doll and is put on the step which corresponds to the record the class has made. In order to reach the goal of one hundred per cent, each member of the class must be present and must have studied his lesson every day.

There are fifty boys and girls in the division.

STORY OF UNIONITE TOLD BY WORK BANDS

Paraphrase of the Story of Jonah Given in M. V. Meeting

A paraphrase of the story of Jonah was the main feature of the program given by the work bands of the Missionary Volunteer society, Friday night, November 18. The paraphrase was the story of a Unionite, who was at first careless about how he spent the Sabbath, but later heard the voice of the Lord, as did Jonah, and answered the call to duty. He joined a work band and spent his time helping others.

Elder Meiklejohn asked for volunteers to join the correspondence band, and several responded.

Several musical numbers were given by Helen Foreman, organist, Myra Jordon, violinist, and Lois Jones, pianist. Alten Bringle sang "The Prayer of Jonah," adapted by Jesse Cowdrick from Moulton's Modern Readers Bible. Mr. Cowdrick also composed the music. The words written by Mr. Cowdrick are:

Thanksgiving Thoughts

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto Thy name, O Most High.

O come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us come before His presence with thanksgiving.

TWO DELEGATES TO BE SENT TO STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION

Problem of Raising Money to Pay
Expenses Taken up in Chapel

Two delegates, one faculty member and one student, will be sent by Union College to the Student Volunteer Convention in Detroit. The problem of raising money to pay their expenses was taken up in chapel, Monday, November 21. The students pledged $52, making a total of $110 which has been raised for this purpose.

The full quota of delegates to the convention is four for Union College, but since the expense of sending them is so great, only two will be sent. It is estimated that railroad fare alone will be $60 for each delegate.

Thanksgiving Program to Be Given Wednesday

A special Thanksgiving program will be given in the church Wednesday evening, November 23. Appropriate decorations will be in evidence. The program will be given by the children of the Sabbath school and the church school. The service will be in charge of Miss Erickson, and will begin promptly at seven o'clock.

Students to Take Airplane Trips

Small cardboard airplanes were passed out by the faculty to the students in chapel, Friday, November 18. These airplanes are reservations for a trip to be taken November 23, in the college building, where the faculty will entertain the students.

The members of the faculty are divided into ten groups representing ten different cities of the world. Each group will entertain the passengers on each plane as it arrives.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN CALIFORNIA

Elder and Mrs. Paap Injured in Collision

Two persons were instantly killed while three others were seriously injured when the car in which they were driving collided with another on the road between Glendale, Calif., and Loma Linda, Calif., November 8. The injured are Elder and Mrs. Paap, and the matron of the Glendale Sanitarium. The dead are Mrs. Paap's mother and a man who was a patient in the sanitarium. Mrs. Paap's condition is very serious as it is thought her neck is broken.

The Paaps will be remembered by their friends in Kansas City where he was elder of the church, and by those of Wichita, Kans., where he was elder of the church and chaplain of the sanitarium. At the present he is elder of the Glendale, Calif., church and also chaplain of the Glendale Sanitarium.

PROGRESS SHOWN BY SABBATH SCHOOL

Goal Is Perfect Record during Week Beginning December 10

The classes of the college Sabbath school showed good progress on November 19 toward the perfect record which they hope to attain during the week December 10 to 17. The average of the school was 93 per cent. Only five classes fell below the ninety per cent mark.

Carl Schmitz reviewed the school on the previous Sabbath's lesson on patience, showing how closely the last three Sabbath school lessons are related.

The mission talk by Professor B. H. Wilcox, showing the islands where the thirteenth Sabbath offering is to go was another feature of the program.

When the classes reassembled in the chapel a special mission exercise was given by six children under the direction of Mrs. Alonzo Cornell, superintendent of the kindergarten division of the College View Sabbath school.

STUDENTS OBSERVE SACRIFICE WEEK

Nearly $400 Raised to Date for Work in Nyassaland

Meals of soup and rice or bread and gravy have formed the diet for the dormitory students during the week of sacrifice, which ended Monday, November 21. The money raised during the week has not all been turned in, but to date North Hall girls have raised $287, the young men of South Hall have given $60 and the resident students have turned in about $60.

The General Conference set aside Thanksgiving week for the annual week of sacrifice, but because so many Union students planned to spend the vacation at home, the college decided to set the time one week ahead. The North Hall girls were divided into groups by corridors, each group setting a separate goal. The South Hall boys worked as a unit, and the village students met during chapel hours to make their plans.

The money raised this year will go to Nyassaland for the educational work there.

PLANS ARE MADE FOR VACATION

Many Students Plan to Spend Thanksgiving at Home

"Where are you going to spend Thanksgiving?" is the popular question on the campus these days. The answers to this question are many and varied, but everyone seems to be making plans. Many whose homes are comparatively near have invited other students to go with them, and are planning house parties. Many are planning to spend the vacation right here at Union, and their plans are as high as the others.

DeForest Walker will spend his vacation at his home in Concordia, Kans. A number of students are planning a pleasant vacation at the Hartzell home in Cortland, Nebr. They are Alice Denison, Lucile Flyger, Ralph Wilson, and Laughridge Hartzell. Lucile Flyger will spend part of her vacation visiting her uncle and aunt at Adams, Nebr.

Dorothy McCormick will leave Wednesday evening for her home in Glenwood, Iowa. After a big dinner, she will attend the Thanksgiving day football game.

Lois Haning, of Lincoln, Geneva Kern, Helen Jones, and Marjorie Whitnack will spend the vacation at the Whitnack home in Grand Island, Nebr.

Marguerite Herren will eat Thanksgiving dinner at Concordia, Kans.

Ralph Kinzer will visit the McCormick home in Glenwood.

Marian Busse and Alice Sornson will go to their respective homes, Atlantic, Iowa, and Exira, Iowa.

Mrs. Foreman, Mrs. Lutz, and Walter Lutz will be guests of Helen Foreman and Katherine Lutz. They plan to see the Nebraska-New York game here on Thanksgiving day.

Editorial

In answer to many inquiries as to what the Clock Tower board does, we take this short space to explain:

Editors—Time, countless hours spent each week. Pay envelope—dozens of good and bad comments, such as "Some excuse of a paper," or "No news in this paper." The joys of finding tardy news reporters, and re-writing material which has been submitted. Weekly problems to solve: "No news" but the paper must leave the press Thursday.

News Reporters—Time, all day Sunday. Pay-roll—all the news that can possibly be found and still the word "more" from the editors. Of course, they never see any original copy in print.

Business managers—Pay roll, the joy of handling another man's cash. Learning to be economical. Trying to keep the credit side as heavy as the debit.

Advertising Managers—Criticism from editor for not using enough space, or for using too much space. Pleasure of having their shoes half-soled each month as a result of frequent visits to business houses.

Circulation Manager—Pay, joy of planning campaigns. Joy of gathering 600 new subs for the Clock Tower and then the awarding of prizes, which he has undoubtedly earned himself.

Secretary—Pay, trying to take rapid notes of all that happens in board meeting. Correcting editor's literary efforts while typing manuscripts.

Frankie Dearborn plans to visit her sister at Howells, Nebr.

Ophelia Voth, Katherine Beck, and Olivia Harder are going to Enterprise for the vacation.

Several Unionites will accompany Myra Jordan to her home in Lawrence, Kans. They are Lulu Blanche Hiatt, Lois Jones, and Jesse Cowdrick.

Wesley Andress is spending the Thanksgiving vacation visiting relatives in Oakland, Iowa.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

A fire which started in the basement of the house in which Mr. and Mrs. Barnhurst, Union College students, are living on West 9th Street, early Wednesday morning, was extinguished before it could do much damage. It was reported to have been probably caused by a few red-hot coals which were dropped when the ashes were carried out.

A New Interpretation

"The study of ancient history is certainly much more interesting than I thought it would be," said a member of Dr. Pfeiler's ancient history class. The Clock Tower reporter promptly seized his pencil and asked, "Why do you find it interesting?" The enthusiastic student of ancient times replied that the "problems considered and the solutions arrived at are enough to make anyone interested in ancient history." When he was asked to be specific about the problems and the solutions, he said:

"Bering Strait is usually considered as the place where the division spoken of in Gen. 10:25 took place. In our class possible explanation was presented which seemed more logical to me. There had always been in my mind a problem as to how certain tropical animals can be found today on different continents in the same latitude, while recognizing the fact that all animal life began in Asia. According to the traditional explanation, all these animals would have had to wander through polar latitudes of Alaska to get to the new world. What lion would ever go up to the icebergs?"

"Doctor Pfeiler, referring to an article which he had written for a German paper in September, 1925, offered this solution:

"All the continents were united in the times preceding Peleg. During the life-time of Peleg, after the dispersion at the tower of Babel, the great mass of land was probably broken up, forming the continents, shaped approximately as they are today. A comparison of the eastern coast of South America and the west coast of Africa almost compels us to believe this, for certain bulges in the coast line of one correspond to indentations in the coast line of the other. The mountains of Bretagne and of Ireland break off sharply as though they had been cut off with a knife. Some cliffs even extend out into the sea. Correspondingly, on the American side, at the same latitude we find, in Newfoundland, just the same kind of coast formation. Also here a range of mountains, the Alleghanies, break off just as sharply as the Irish mountains, and we can hardly draw any other conclusion than that these two ranges were once one vast range. In Africa the Atlas plateau breaks off abruptly at the coast. On the South American side there are similar heights, a spur of the Cordilleras on the island of Trinidad.

"It is also amazing to note the similarities of people living between the twentieth and fortieth degrees north latitude. The nation most advanced in culture in antiquity was the Egyptian. Compare the Egyptian nation with the old nations of Central America, for instance the Aztecs. We find the same brown skin, the same shape of nose, and the receding forehead. In fact the shape of the entire head, the mode of dress, etc., are very similar. If the people are alike or similar we expect their works to be similar. Now Egypt and Mexico are the only places where we find pyramids.

"The conclusion must be that by some means the land of the earth's surface has been broken in pieces and these pieces have moved apart from each other. Geodetical measurements have proved that the American continents are still moving away from the old world at a very slow rate.

"This motion is to be explained by a consideration of the different geological layers of the earth. The upper layer of the continents being more solid and specifically lighter than the gelatinous, doughy, lower layers. Thus the upper layer may be considered as floating upon those below."

[Dr. Pfeiler states that this is only a hypothesis, but it seems to be a logical explanation of the text.]

BOOK REVIEW

"There have been carloads of newspaper clippings and magazine articles written concerning Charles Lindbergh but never has there been a book published by him of his eventful transatlantic flight until the appearance of this new and valuable manuscript—"We" by the famous flyer himself.

"Every word of this book has been carefully written in longhand by the author. A note from the publisher says: It goes back in its recital to long before May 20, 1927, when a slim youth stood silhouetted beside his plane against the dawn, calmly awaiting the supreme test in his young life. It goes back to Lindbergh's description of his boyhood and early flights. It tells how he got his first plane. It describes vividly and in detail his unique career as a stunt flyer; his training days in the army air corps; his four emergency parachute jumps which saved his life

Pointed Paragraphs

Selected by W. W. Prescott

How can I be kind to those whose characters are unamiable and the look of whose soul is not inviting?—by looking at God over their shoulders.

Tell me not what thou hast heard and read, and only so; but what (after thy hearing and reading) thou hast taken into thy meditation, found to be truth, settled with judgment, fixed in the memory, embraced in thy affections—and then a long time practiced, and so made up to be truly thine own. This, and only this, is rightly called learning.

No man can rightly present the law of God without the gospel, or the gospel without the law. The law is the gospel embodied, and the gospel is the law unfolded.

A character formed after the divine likeness is the only treasure that we can take from this world to the next.

All the culture and education which we can give, will fail of making a degraded child of sin a child of heaven.

Sweet, kind words are as dew and gentle showers to the soul.

True education is the preparation of the physical, mental, and moral powers for the performance of every duty; it is the training of body, mind, and soul for divine service. This is the education that will endure unto eternal life.

The symbol of the Christian church is not a burning bush, nor a dove, nor an open book, nor a halo around a submissive head, nor a crown of splendid honor. It is a cross.

"Hath He marks to lead me to Him,
If He be my guide?
In His feet and hands are wound-prints
And His side.

Is there diadem as Monarch,
That His brow adorns?
Yea, a crown in every surety,
But of thorns."

It is the strangest marvel of all times that the obscure carpenter of Nazareth, and the peasant of Galilee, and the crucified of Jerusalem is not only the outstanding figure of the past, but the mightiest force and personality of the present.

We know that there are two sides to our life: one that is turned outwards to the world; the other that is turned inwards towards ourselves. We are all agreed that the aspect of our life which is turned inwards is more true to our inward nature.

What we do is a reflection of what we are.

MISSION BANDS MEET

A general meeting of all the mission bands was held Friday evening, November 19, at seven o'clock. Elder Meiklejohn spoke to the bands, emphasizing the necessity of a Christ-like character in all their work.

After this brief talk the bands separated. In the sunshine band Miss Myrtle Maxwell spoke definitely on the art of story telling. After Miss Maxwell's talk, Peter Anderson, an elderly gentleman of the village, rendered three accordin numbers.

DEATH OF MRS. SHEPHERD

Mrs. Margaret Jane Shepherd, 119 East 11th Street, died Sabbath morning November 19. Mrs. Shepherd has been a resident of College View for many years, but for the last several years has been in ill health. Mrs. Shepherd leaves her husband, E. N. Shepherd and two daughters: Mrs. Joyce Harman and Mrs. Newell Niswonger. Funeral services were held Sunday at four o'clock at Castle Roper Mathews, after which burial was made at Bonapart, Iowa.

I am cast out into the deep;
Thy flood is round about me.
I go down to the bottoms of the mountains.
The wild waves pass above me.

I will sacrifice an offering unto Thee
With the voice of my thanksgiving:
I will pay that which my soul hath vowed,
I will pay that which my soul hath vowed,
Salvation is of the Lord,
Salvation is of the Lord!

I am cast out before thine eyes,
E'en in thy presence, Lord.
The waters compass me about.
Yea, even to my soul.

Out of my afflicted soul;
I call unto the Lord:
E'en from out the depths of hell
I cry unto my God.

O Lord, my God, my soul is failed within me;
Bring thou my life from out the pit of sin,
O Lord, my God, my soul is almost dying;
Open thy holy temple to my plea.
Bring thou my life from out the pit of sin,
And open thou thy holy temple to my plea.

MERE MENTION

The Kappa Theta program Wednesday night stressed the idea of sacrifice week in the talk on Nyasaland given by Miss Opal Rogers. This talk was followed by a cornet duet by Miss Simon and Miss Dennison. After the critic's report the meeting adjourned.

Miss Couch returned Monday, November 14, from Campion Academy where she attended an inner-state teachers' institute.

The academy students recently appeared wearing blue and gray badges. The badges are in the shape of a shield and have the monogram U. C. A.

Thirty guests surprised H. C. Gray Tuesday night at his home 446 East 14th Street. This party was in honor of Mr. Gray's sixty-sixth birthday. After games were played, light refreshments were served.

A small fire at the home of Mrs. Gibson, 220 West 9th Street, last Wednesday morning, November 16, gave the firemen a little practice but caused very little damage.

Five Seventh-day Adventist colleges in the United States are headed by former Union graduates. Union College is headed by President Leo Thiel; Broadview Theological Seminary by President H. Olsen; Emmanuel Missionary College by President G. Wolfkill; Walla Walla College by President W. Smith.

Miss LuZetta Krassin writes: "You can't imagine how I miss old Union and North Hall. Wouldn't it be lovely if it took eight years instead of just four to go through college?"

Wymond Eckert, White Memorial Hospital, Los Angeles, Calif., writes: "Just before I left the library this evening, I happened to pick up the Clock Tower and my thoughts quickly passed to dear old Union and the happy times there. The Clock Tower is one of the keenest college papers I have ever seen. I have read all the back numbers."

TURNER - BRADLEY

The marriage of Miss Wylma Turner and Russel Bradley, both of Ethel, Mo., took place in Ethel, Mo., Friday evening, November 11. Their home is in New Cambria, Mo., where Mr. Bradley is teaching school.

WAGER - CHRISTMANN

The announcement of the marriage of Marshall Christmann to Helen Wager was received here recently. Mr. Christmann was graduated from Union's pre-medical class in the spring of '28. The following August he enrolled in the College of Medical Evangelists, Loma Linda, Calif. Mrs. Christmann is a resident of Loma Linda, having enrolled in the nurses' class of '28.

SIEBERT - FRITZ

On September 1, at Boulder, Colo., Miss Martha Siebert and Henry H. Fritz were married by Elder N. T. Sutton.

Mrs. Fritz was graduated from the Clinton Theological Seminary in 1924 and from the Boulder-Colorado Sanitarium in 1927.

Mr. Fritz is a graduate of Enterprise Academy and Clinton Theological Seminary. He was a graduate from the Union College normal course in 1926.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz are living in Dix, Nebr., where he is teaching school.

Revival of Learning at Union

A revival of learning has begun in Union College. In a certain class last week a young man couldn't answer a question, which was nothing unusual in itself. However, his explanation, "I can't remember a thing more than three days," started something.

The instructor politely offered to lend the forgetful one a book entitled "How to Study," which is guaranteed to be helpful to college students who have difficulty in getting the first letter of the alphabet on their grade cards.

Immediately several hands went up. "Can I borrow that book?" asked one. "Let me have it next," shouted another.

Overwhelmed by the requests, the instructor suggested that there were other books in the world on the same subject. Someone volunteered the information that books containing such enlightening information could be found right in the Union College library. The sad part of it is that these particular books are in perfectly good condition.

CHURCH NOTES

Pastor R. T. Baer gave an illustrated lecture in the Omaha Memorial S. D. A. church Sunday evening November 20 to a very large congregation.

The baptismal class now numbers seven and special meetings are being held each Friday evening. The special service will be held in the church, Sabbath, December 3.

The Young People's Missionary Volunteer meetings at the church Sabbath afternoon are increasing in interest and attendance. One feature of the program next Sabbath will be a Bible study in song. The offerings are given for the purpose of purchasing a folding organ for Brother H. B. Christianson, who is engaged in missionary work in Peru, South America.

A number of delegates from the church will attend the Layman's Missionary Movement Convention to be held in St. Paul's church November 30 to December 3. The object of the convention is to awaken an interest among church laymen in behalf of greater activity in carrying the gospel to all the world. Prominent speakers from the distant mission fields will be on the program. The registrations are one dollar for men and fifty cents for ladies. Meals will be served free each day at the convention.

EUROPEAN BAND TO MEET NOVEMBER 25

"Four Years War Imprisonment in Russia," is the subject of the program that will be given by the European mission band on Friday, November 25, at seven o'clock. Watch the poster for further information.

STATION U. C. C. T. ANNOUNCING

The Humann brothers quartet will leave Friday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller to spend the vacation at Mrs. Miller's parents' home in Harlan, Iowa. They will return Sunday.

The College View Parent-Teachers' Association was entertained last Tuesday from two to six o'clock at Gooch's Mill. They were divided into small groups and guides accompanied them through the bakery and mill. In the guest room a helpful lecture on foods was given and a dainty luncheon was served. Seventy-eight guests were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Smith, of Keeneburg, Colo., are moving into the Meakin apartment on N Street.

A CIRCULAR LETTER is often the means of putting your name and merchandise before your prospective customers, as well as offering special inducements to your former customers, too, in a way that appeals to them more than a common circular.

We will be glad to print the letter for you and assist in any way possible in its preparation. We can also put up any inclosures in the way of specials, etc., that you may need.
