CHURCH OBSERVES WEEK OF PRAYER

Chas. T. Burroughs Assisting Pastor Baer

The week of prayer as recommended by the General Conference is being observed by the Seventh-day Adventist church of College View, December 10 to 17.

Professor W. W. Prescott gave the opening address of the Week of Prayer in the church last Sabbath. His subject was "True Sabbath Keeping." He enumerated the following characteristics of a true Sabbath keeper: He will be kind in his home; he will be helpful in his neighborhood; he will be upright in his business dealings; he will be a soul winner.

Elder R. T. Baer, pastor of the church, is being assisted by Elder Chas. Burroughs in the special revival meetings and a spiritual awakening is attending this special week of meetings. There have been special musical numbers each evening which were arranged to contribute to the spiritual phase of the revival work. The church people have attempted to minimize their domestic duties to permit them to attend as they are desirous of all the help possible during this effort. The themes being considered throughout this week are as follows:

Sabbath, December 10, "To Make Ready a People Prepared for the Lord."
Sunday, December 11, "Soul Winning Evangelism."
Monday, December 12, "Face to Face with Persecution."
Tuesday, December 13, "Approaching the World Crisis."
Wednesday, December 14, "Maintaining Home Standards."
Thursday, December 15, "Advancing under Forbidding Circumstances."
Friday, December 16, "World Survey of Missions."
Sabbath, December 17, "Our Responsibilities in the Present Crisis."

In this series of meetings our need of Christ has been the central theme of all. The importance of individual influence has also been stressed.

PRESIDENT THIEL CONDUCTS VESPER SERVICE

"Character Building" Is Topic

President Thiel spoke to the students of the college Friday evening in the college chapel on the subject of character building. The three essential factors in building, according to President Thiel, are the plan, the material, and the workmanship. The speaker compared the building of character to the erection of buildings, mentioning especially the state capitol building. He pointed the students to the need of the right kind of material which each must put in his character if he is to stand in troublous times. Straw, hay, and stubble will never stand when the sorrow and the realities of life come upon a person, but wood, stone, and lasting metals are those needful qualities for a strong character.

Ruby Lea Receives Word of Her Father's Death

Word was received here late Friday afternoon, December 9, of the death of T. J. Lea, of Graysville, Tenn., father of Miss Ruby Lea, registrar of Union College, on Thursday, December 8. He leaves a wife, six daughters, and a son to mourn.

Mr. Lea has been in poor health for the last year and a final stroke of paralysis caused his death. Miss Lea's many friends extend deepest sympathy to her in her sorrow.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR 100 PER CENT SABBATH SCHOOL

Could Compare School to Football Team

"Our Sabbath school can well be compared to a foot ball team," said Lloyd Gould, Sabbath, December 10, in speaking of the progress of the school. "We are on the final drive down the field, with seven yards to go, and seven tries to make the goal. Shall we let down now or shall we hold the line and go over for the goal?"

The one hundred per cent Sabbath has been the focal point of the school for the entire quarter, and next Sabbath, December 17, has been set as the time for the last great effort to put it over. For eight consecutive Sabbaths, excepting Thanksgiving vacation, the school has run over ninety per cent, reaching ninety-four and one-fourth per cent at one time. But perfection is the goal, and on every hand is heard discussion of methods to keep from forgetting to study the Sabbath school lesson, and the possibility of really reaching such a high standard. Various methods are being used to insure 100 per cent.

One class has appointed a lieutenant to call every member each evening and see that no one has forgotten. Another has divided into pairs or groups to remind each other each night. In front of the chapel is a large poster calling on one to study his lesson now if he has not done so already, and furnishing a Bible and lesson sheet for those who have not. In evening worship and chapel the song, "Study Your Lesson Every Day," has been sung until it rings through our minds calling us not to forget. Both dormitories claim that they will be one hundred per cent perfect on December 17, and the village students do not expect to be behind. Watch the paper next week for the report of the one hundred per cent Sabbath school and dollar day of December 17.

Sabbath School Juniors Entertained in Gymnasium

The Junior B division of the Sabbath school enjoyed an entertainment at the college gymnasium Sunday evening, December 11. A short program was given at the first of the evening's entertainment, consisting of a well-

MISSIONARY VOLUNTEERS TO GIVE CHRISTMAS MUSICAL PROGRAM

Stereopticon to Be Additional Feature

A unique musical program will be given Friday evening, December 16, at the young people's Missionary Volunteer meeting. The program, which will be typical of the Christmas spirit, will begin with an organ prelude followed by prayer. Lantern slides on Bethlehem will next be shown followed by a vocal solo, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and a reading, "Hymn of the Nativity" by Milton. The star of Bethlehem will then be shown and this will be followed by "Star of Bethlehem" by Adams as a vocal solo. After slides have been shown on the "Announcement to Shepherds," "Holy Night" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" will be given by a quartet. "The Worship of Wise Men" will then be shown after which "Adoration" by Nevin, will be played as a violin solo. "The Holy Child" by Adams, as a vocal solo will follow the slides on the Sistine Madonna. The slides on Holy Family will be shown next, followed by a Bach chorus, "From Heaven on High," which will close the meeting.

Impromptu Speeches Feature of Sigma Iota Kappa Program

Musical numbers and impromptu speeches were features of the regular meeting of the Sigma Iota Kappa, Thursday evening, December 8. The South Hall quartet, which is composed of Roger Curtis, Ray White, Lloyd Gould, and Alten Bringle, accompanied by Norman Brethouwer, sang "Lassie 'o Mine." The audience were so well pleased that it was necessary to give two encores, "The Old Songs" and "Just Smile."

The novel feature of the program was introduced when Merrill Smith, chairman, produced two hats, one containing the names of members of the society, and the other containing subjects for impromptu speeches. The first name drawn was Bert McBroom, and his topic was "Alarm Clocks." Rueben Johnson

RADIO LECTURES BRING RESPONSE

Professor Prescott Receiving Many Letters Daily

Since Professor W. W. Prescott's lecture on religious liberty, which was broadcast from station KFAB last Sunday, he has received more than fifty letters requesting him to send literature on this subject. He has received letters from the most northern regions down to the Gulf of Mexico, and from Colorado to the Atlantic coast. After his lecture he invited all who desired literature such as the "Liberty" magazine to send in their names and addresses. Many requests are coming in daily.

Sunshine Band Plans Holiday Activities

The sunshine bands of Union College are planning some special activities during the holidays. A group of students will sing Christmas carols at the homes of the old people of the village. Plans are being formulated to send a Christmas card to each person in the old folks' home which is located near Lincoln.

A Christmas party will be given at the state orphanage, gifts will be distributed at the Lincoln general hospital, and programs will be given at the orthopedic hospital.

Plans are made for raising money for these activities by either giving a supper in North Hall, or by selling Christmas candies.

The sunshine bands will meet December 16 to consider further plans. Miss Lois Jones will direct the Christmas carols to be practised at that time; Miss Hiatt will give special instruction on reading poetry to children. All students who are interested in this work are requested by the leader, Miss Myra Jordan, to be present at this meeting.

Farm Boys Have Picnic Breakfast

Carl Myers was awarded the distinction of being the champion pancake eater at the pancake breakfast given for the boys who work on the farm by Mr. and Mrs. Stout at their home last Sunday morning. Hugh Simmons was the first to lose out in the race as he said he had to play basket ball after the "feed." He feared Colorado would fare badly if he ate too many pancakes.

LINCOLN MAY HAVE NATURAL GAS

Line Proposed from Amarillo, Texas

Mr. Kinzer has investigated the proposed natural gas line from Amarillo, Tex. This line would touch Wichita, North Lincoln, and Omaha as well as other cities near it, provided the company secures the contract with Omaha for which they are negotiating at the present. The mayor of Omaha told Mr. Kinzer that their city board would vote on this proposition next Wednesday and if the vote was favorable it would be well for other cities if they would not give a franchise on manufactured gas, thus waiting for natural gas. The line would be finished by October, 1928. This line promises better and cheaper gas.

Why doesn't someone arrange some new superstitions for us? The old ones are getting dreadfully threadbare. Why can't we replenish our supply of superstitions the same as we do our supply of collars and shirts and other things, such as the paper napkins in the South Hall dining room?

Of course there are some of the good old stand-bys that none of us would want to see discarded. We thoroughly believe that it is likely to bring bad luck to walk under a ladder, especially if one is dressed in his best suit and someone is painting on the ladder. We believe also that it is unlucky to cross a street while reading a newspaper. Then there are certain local superstitions for which we hold great respect. For example, it is thought to be a never-failing sign of bad luck, if, while strolling, one chances to meet a teacher crossing the little bridge down on Eighth Street. It is believed on good evidence to be a harbinger of ill fortune if one goes to class on certain arbitrarily fixed days of each month without a small tinted card from the business office. Then there are a few dormitory superstitions which have been proved beyond the shadow of a doubt. One of these is that it is a bad omen to be found studying in the halls after the lights go out. We are convinced of this one, for we have seen it tried several times, and invariably the unlucky student wore a tired-of-life expression the next day.

But some of the superstitions are really out of date. The good luck horseshoe must go, for there are no more horseshoes now than there are powdered wigs. Why not substitute inner tubes for horse shoes? Then there are some superstitions which do not apply to the college at all. For example, just try going in one door and coming out another in the college building.

Dinner in South Hall dining room tends to deteriorate into merely a social funtion for the man at the end of the line.

The Misses Alice Sornson and Dorothy Vogel assisted in serving the breakfast to the eight "farmers." The boys entered into the home spirit of the occasion and that they enjoyed the breakfast was manifested by the huge stacks of pancakes and cups of hot creamy chocolate that melted away. It's great to be a "farmer" sometimes!

My Philosophy of Life

W. W. Prescott

My philosophy of life is best expressed in the words of Jesus: "Even so let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven." Therefore my rule is: Do all the good you can, in all the ways you can, in all the places you can, at all the times you can. He lives most who serves most.

CHURCH NOTES

The pastor of the church extended the hand of fellowship, Sabbath, December 10, to the following persons who were baptized the Sabbath before: Mrs. Charles Zadina, Mrs. D. L. Picha, Harold Lickey, and Edna Welch.

The appearance of the Primary B Sabbath school room is greatly improved by the new floor covering which was purchased by the Dorcas society.

The Sabbath school officers and teachers met last Sabbath afternoon for the purpose of laying definite plans for having a one hundred per cent Sabbath school on the thirteenth Sabbath.

The kindergarten department is saving all their pennies given each Sabbath this quarter to give on the thirteenth Sabbath. Watch for the amount on that date.

Primary A department has on the walls two Asiatic elephants each carrying a group of brown men. Read these items and let us tell you later what they mean.

The members of the home nursing class, which meets in the basement room of the town library, had a class meeting on Thursday night and laid plans for their closing program which will be held the last week in December.

the opening of a new field mission station, read by Miss Helen Jones from her sister who is now in Africa.

Peasant life and agriculture was the topic of discussion in the parlor of North Hall where the European band held its meeting last Friday evening.

A very interesting feature of the talks given was the fact that each of the speakers talked from personal knowledge and observation. William Olsen gave a resume of European peasant life and Solomon Ammon talked on the agriculture and farming of Russia.

DR. HERZER VISITS COLLEGE VIEW

Guest of Elder Stevens

Dr. Fred Herzer, a well known former resident of College View, was the visitor of Professor H. U. Stevens last Thursday, December 8.

Dr. Herzer finished the pre-med course at Union in 1908. From here he went to Loma Linda, Calif., where he finished the medical course and was for a time connected with the faculty of the College of Medical Evangelists. He also spent several years in the Philippines as a medical missionary, and is now connected with the Glendale Sanitarium in California.

Previous to his visit to College View he had been in the East taking special medical work.

Following this program a number of games were played, refreshments were served, after which all participated in a march.

Miss Marybelle Huffman entertained her class of girls from the Junior B division of the Sabbath school, at dinner in South Hall on Sunday, December 3. The girls reported a most enjoyable time.

Clock Tower Friends

Miss Olga Lorenz who is acting as desk clerk at the Glendale sanitarium writes that she is happy in her work and that when she gets the Clock Tower she reads it through and sits down and dreams of Union which causes a real spell of homesickness.

Belle Woodman-Lyle, writing from Ethel, Mo., sends a subscription for the Clock Tower and $1.00 for the North Hall house fund.

Harry Rush, a Lincoln lawyer who is a recent subscriber to The Clock Tower, says, "The Clock Tower is the finest school paper I have ever seen. One of the many things which makes it distinctive from other papers is the fact that it contains no movie ads or any of the light, cheap reading matter which prevails in most college papers. I admire the paper because of the body of young people who stands behind it with such high ideals."

Pointed Paragraphs

Selected by W. W. Prescott

Liberalism evaporates personality until it is of tissue-paper thinness and soap-bubble content.

Intensity is of greater worth than extensity. Quality is more important than quantity. Go after all out-doors and you get nothing but wind.

When science enters the domain of theology it invariably begins to dogmatize. It is when a pseudo-science camouflages its atheistic position in the name of science, that theology comes into conflict with it.

To rob a soul of God himself by seeking to create disbelief in his sovereignty, his personality, his presence, his goodness and mercy is of all crimes of which man can be guilty, the most heinous and reprehensible.

In the study of art and music, the laws of harmony, with the surprising accuracy of mathematical application, make impossible the thought of accidental origination.

Sometimes a professor with his bone becomes as dangerous as a dog with his bone, and the dog at least does not deduce a theory from it proving that mankind is going to the dogs or that he came from them.

Evolution is a fad, and anti-supernaturalism is a mania.

The greatest menace to higher learning is Monkey Mentalism.

The irreverent and the unwondering are to be found among those who know least, not among those who know most.

Nothing is more sure than that organic evolution is directly opposed to the Biblical account of the origin of the world and the development of the human race. From a Biblical standpoint it is unhistorical and untrue.

The false pride that demands absolute independence, refuses to bow to authority, and is in an unremitting rebellion against accountability and judgment has led to periodic recurrences of atheistic assertion and assumption with its long train of denials and denunciations of revealed religion.

Anybody who is interested in helping people to understand the Bible is a patriot.

And is our best too much? O friends, let us remember How once our Lord poured out his soul for us, And in the prime of his mysterious manhood Gave up his precious life on the Cross. The Lord of lords, by whom the worlds were made, Through bitter grief and tears, gave us the best he had.

Christianity is not primarily a philosophy of the universe. It is a religion. It is not founded upon metaphysics. . . . Christianity is a historical religion, and a religion of experience. It is grounded in facts. Its credentials are well-established facts and clearly defined experiences. God has revealed himself to man in and through Jesus Christ. The Christian world-view rests upon these facts.

Faith, as seen in the Gospels, results not in the first place from the miracles which justify and sustain it, but from the personal impression which appeals to the conscience and the spirit in man.

Our trust is not in a name which we learn, but in a person whom we know; not in a scheme of salvation, but in a living Saviour.

The fires of boundless hope cannot be wet-blanketed by a naturalistic philosophy.

Only as the Church of Christ can say with absolute assurance, "I know whom I believe," will it be able to accomplish its supernatural mission.

If what is called broad-mindedness carried its proper label it would be weak-mindedness.

In millions of lives it is being demonstrated every day that the gospel is the power of God unto salvation.

No human being who ever trod the earth has left behind a representation of himself more clear and living, and more certain in its truthfulness, than is that which we possess of him who was known at first as "the Prophet of Nazareth in Galilee."

Is it not indeed the distinguishing feature of the Christian system, that it places the foundation of salvation in living relations with a living person, rather than in the adoption of opinions or of habits?

The writings of the Evangelists do not present to us a scheme of doctrine as to the nature of Christ or as to the work which he does. They present to us the Lord Jesus himself, as he shewed himself to men in order to win their confidence and fix their trust.
